OUR PARIS CORRESPONDENCE.

Political Movements in Paris—The tiers-parti—Sad Death of a Young Lady.

PARIS, Friday, March 30, 1866.

The funds continue to tumble down at the Bourse, and people show a certain shyness in renewing costly leases. The Emperor's position never appeared so shaky as at present, and we have war rumors from all points of the compass; from Germany, Italy, Prussia and Canada. But we have these war alarms every Spring, and must not give them too much importance.

The formation of a tiers-parti from the body of the Emperor's friends and from the moderate members of the opposition, is a serious danger for the present dynasty. Less violent than the republicans, they are, therefore, more insidious. More people can stand on their platform, because beside the honest and the indifferent, they will gather up the intriguing. Two of the ablest writers of France, Messrs. EMILE DE GIRARDIN and EMILE OLLIVIER, have placed themselves at the head of this party, the first as the editor of the Liberté, and the second as editor of the Presse. They have unfolded the flag of "Liberty without revolution," and declare their design to be to agitate the country until they carry the elections with this flag. They do not admit that if the Emperor resists, the logical result of their programme would be to sweep him away, for every man can see that for himself.

All eyes are turned toward an election for Deputy in the District of Strasburg, for, on all hands, it is agreed that this election will show the sentiment of the country districts on the Emperor's refusal to give more liberty. The Deputy from that District, the Baron DE BUSSIERES, a wealthy and an excellent man, knowing that the general tendency of his constituents was toward liberalism, did not desire to vote for the amendment of the tiers-parti, and yet feared that his constituents might desire it. So he took the wise and honorable course of resigning and of going back again to his people to ask for a reëlection as an enemy of the liberal amendment—in other words, as a friend of the statu quo. The Liberals have pitted against him the distinguished Professor of Comparative Legislation at the College of France, M. LABOULAYE, who accepts as his own the flag of the "third party"—"liberty without revolution." Immense efforts are being made by both parties to carry this election, because of the mutual understanding as to its significance; but the chances, nevertheless, are in favor of the former occupant, because he is a large property-holder in the district and a good landlord, whereas M. LABOULAYE lives at Paris and possesses no local interests or influence. It is hoped, however, that the opposition will immensely reduce M. DE BUSSIERES' majority, and this will prove at least a partial triumph under the circumstances for their principles.

The tiers-parti are naturally much aggravated at the Emperor for menacing them in his speech with the army. These men, the enlightened moderate men of France, who desire as much as anybody the welfare of France, who declare that they only wish legal and not illegal or brutal progress; in other words, that they accept the Empire, if the Empire will treat them as men and not as children; these men, after such a manly and honorable declaration on their part, do not like to be menaced with the army because of their longings for the liberty which the surrounding nations possess and which they do not possess.

On his side the Emperor is deeply vexed because the people will not comprehend his policy as he comprehends it. He has no confidence in the stability of his power with freedom of the press and of speech; and as he has undertaken the mission of saving France from herself, and as he appears to be profoundly convinced that in the army is the only security, he has fallen back upon that as the pillar upon which he is to repose.

You will see strange stories in the press about another Duke DE PRASLIN affair at Paris, and you may see it mentioned also that the stories concern the newly married couple, the Duke and Duchess DE MOUCHY—the latter of course being the victim. But ever since the report was put in circulation, the Duke and Duchess have driven regularly to the promenade, and there is reason to believe there is no foundation for the story. It would therefore be improper to give you the details as they are repeated from mouth to mouth.

A young lady from Boston, who has had great success in fashionable society this winter for her personal beauty and charming character, Miss JOSY CARTER, just died unexpectedly from a sudden congestion of the brain in typhoid fever. She was only sister of Mrs. PETER L. RONALDS, and the latter, who loved her sister most tenderly, has nearly lost her reason by this sudden and great affliction.

MALAKOFF.

Austria and Prussia.

The London Times, of the 30th, remarked editorially that there was too much reason to fear that the peace of Europe was about to be broken by a most unnecessary war; but on the following day the Times remarked: "We cannot persuade ourselves that Austria and Prussia, however fiercely they may wrangle, will actually fight. They have been on the verge of hostilities before without coming to blows. We can hardly avoid thinking, therefore, that they will find some way out of the present quarrel, desperate as it appears to be."

It is asserted that Count MENSDORFF, the Russian Premier, has made a positive statement to the Prussian Embassador at Vienna respecting the movement of Austrian troops, not concealing that Austria must be prepared for any extreme resolutions that might eventually be taken by Prussia.

Vienna papers declare that Prussia will not take the aggressive.

It is reported from Venetia that the Commission of Austrian engineers is making a minute inspection of the numerous forts along the line of the Adige, and that the soldiers of the reserve on furlough have been called in.

A Berlin telegram asserts that the mobilization of two army corps will be immediately proceeded with.

The Government of Weimar has replied evasively to the Prussian Circular dispatch, and claimed Federal intervention in the question.

Count VON BISMARK had a long conference on the 29th with Count KAROLYI, the Austrian Ambassador to Berlin.

Orders had been issued to place three divisions of Prussian infantry, the whole Sixth Army Corps, and several other regiments, upon a war footing.

It was also stated that orders had been given that the Prussian war vessels at Kiel be prepared for active service.

The Vienna Abend Post asserts that five Prussian army corps have received orders to hold themselves ready for active service.

The Vienna Debatte asserts that the Western Great Powers intend to present identical notes at Berlin deprecatory of war.

It is stated not only that a convention but a formal treaty of alliance has been concluded between Italy and Prussia.

VON BISMARK is said to have addressed a circular dispatch to the Prussian Embassadors at the Courts of the Great Powers, directing them to protest against the extraordinary armaments of Austria.

A Florence telegram says considerable armaments are stated to be in course of preparation in Italy.

The provincial correspondence of Berlin, of the 28th, says that in view of the danger to Prussia by the concentration of Austrian troops, it is supposed that orders have been given which will enable Prussia to successfully resist any attack.

A dispatch from Odelberg dated the 28th, says a war powder train composed of six wagons, passed by Osweiczin (Silesia) recently, destined for Craceria, and that numerous bodies from Hungary had arrived at Lemberg, and were expected at Osweiczin.

A Berlin telegram says that measures touching Silesia were taken at the meeting of the Council on the 27th.

A dispatch from Vienna of the 28th, protests against the statements of Prussian journals, and says "there has been no rendezvous of a corps d'armée, no purchase of horses, and no levy of troops," on the part of Austria. The Imperial Government has omitted to take measures which are justified by the language of Prussian sheets, for it would not needlessly increase the burdens of the finances.

Great Britain.

Advices from Plymouth say that orders have been received there to expedite the preparation for sea of half a dozen war vessels. The conclusion is drawn that they are intended for the Gulf and River St. Lawrence.

GEORGE RENNIE, the well-known engineer, died on the 30th.

The New-York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company have contracted with the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company of London, for the manufacture and submersion this Summer of two cables; one across the Gulf of St. Lawrence, from Newfoundland to Cape Breton, and the other between Prince Edward's Island and Newfoundland, and for the repair of the present cables so as to have two cables for the prompt transmission of all messages between the Atlantic cable and the United States.

France.

The weekly returns of the Bank of France show an increase in cash of over 13,000,000 francs.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times writes that Prince NAPOLEON has left Paris for Italy, after having several interviews with the Emperor. It is whispered that he is intrusted with a mission to VICTOR EMMANUEL, which could not well be confided to any inferior personage, and has reference to the state of affairs between Prussia and Austria. The correspondent adds: "I find that persons who, up to the present moment, have refused to believe that anything likely to disturb the peace of Europe would come of the quarrel, are now far less incredulous. Their views of the future are gloomy enough, and they think the conflict between Austria and Prussia all but certain."

The editor of the Paris Opinion Nationale states in that journal that he had received a visit from STEPHENS, the Irish Head-Centre, who announced his approaching departure for America.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 11.

THE NEW-YORK COLLECTORSHIP.

The New-York Collectorship is again the subject uppermost in the minds of New-York politicians. Positive statements are made by certain parties to-day that the appointment of a prominent bank President has been determined on; but the developments of the past thirty days on this subject do not render it safe to believe anything as certain until the appointment is signed.

OCEAN MAILS.

Among the numerous lobby and adventurous schemes being urged now upon Congress are several for obtaining subsidies for service of trans-Atlantic mails from New-York, Boston and Baltimore, to the various European ports. The lobbyists who have these schemes in charge have thus far found their greatest stumbling block in the expressed opinion of Postmaster-General DENNISON who favors the self-sustaining system of ocean mail service. Gov. DENNISON finds no difficulty in this system; on the contrary he is unable to supply all the demands from owners of vessels who apply for employment upon the terms of the Department, namely, postages on the mails conveyed. The Postmaster-General steadily refuses to recommend any departure from this established policy of the Department, not only because of the financial wants of the Government, but as well from the absence of any necessity for special legislation on behalf of the trans-Atlantic service. He thinks the kind of legislation urged by the lobbyists would retard rather than advance the general commercial prosperity. Particularly would it be injudicious to subsidize separate lines from each of our Atlantic ports. The schemers are becoming impatient and are at a loss to successfully meet the Postmaster-General's objections to special subsidies for pecuniary advantage of owners of vessels.

BUSINESS IN THE HOUSE.

The House was to-day devoted to matters of minor importance generally. The Agricultural College Bill was passed, and an hour or more was spent upon Mr. SCHENCK's bill to allow army Paymasters extra compensation to the amount of one-quarter of one per centum on all the moneys they have disbursed during the war, providing such extra amount does not exceed the sum of $1,000 per annum. It encountered much opposition, Mr. DARLING, of New-York, making an attack on it as a species of dangerous class legislation, and demanding that naval Paymasters be put on the same footing. The bill finally went over. It will take hundreds of thousands, if not a million, out of the Treasury, and many persons were surprised to see Hon. Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, favoring it.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.

The enrolled Civil Rights Bill was last night filed at the State Department, and will to-morrow be officially published as a law.

FREEDMEN'S AFFAIRS.

Brevet Maj.-Gen. KIDDOO has been appointed Assistant Commissioner of Freedmen's Affairs for the State of Texas, relieving Gen. GREGORY, who is ordered to report at Washington. Col. SAML. THOMAS, Assistant Commissioner for the State of Mississippi, has also been relieved and ordered to report here, and will be succeeded by Gen. THOS. J. WOOD, Department Commander. This last appointment is in pursuance of a plan by which the operations of the Bureau may as rapidly as possible be brought under the immediate charge of the Military Department Commanders.

REIMBURSING THE STATES.

The passage of the bill to reimburse the State of Pennsylvania for the services of her militia during the war, which was very quietly effected under the urgent pressure of Gov. CURTIN and Representative MYERS, leaves no good excuse why the State of Missouri should not be dealt with in the same manner. Accordingly, Mr. LOAN, of that State, called up to-day the House Bill to appropriate some $7,000,000 for that purpose, and it was discussed until the hour of adjournment. Pennsylvania's claim was but $1,000,000, but the precedent established left no consistent ground for opposition to Missouri's claim. The opposition to it was very considerable. The bill was finally passed.

CLAIMS FOR LOST MONEY.

So many claims for money lost by Government officers, through the exigencies of the service, and with no fault of their own, are pouring in upon Congress, that the Military Committee have taken the matter in hand, and have reported a bill to extend the jurisdiction of the Court of Claims to these, cases, thus providing for their thorough investigation and prompt settlement. The bill provides that the Court of Claims shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine all claims of Paymasters, Quartermasters, Commissaries of Subsistence, and other disbursing officers of the United States, or of their administrators or executors for relief from responsibility on account of losses by capture or otherwise, in the line of their duty during the late war, of Government funds or vouchers in their charge, and for which such officers were responsible, and that whenever said Court shall have ascertained the facts of any such loss to have been without fault or neglect on the part of any such officer, it shall make a decree setting forth the amount thereof, upon which the proper accounting officers of the Treasury shall allow to such officer the amount so decreed in the settlement of his accounts.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS BEFORE THE RECONSTRUCTION COMMITTEE.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS, of Georgia, appeared as a witness before the Committee on Reconstruction today, and will conclude his testimony to-morrow as to the condition and disposition of the people of the South. It is said that he was very deliberate and careful in all of his replies to the questions asked, and that his testimony is of an interesting character. He will this week return to Georgia.

THE PUBLIC LANDS.

A rush for land for actual settlement is now taking place. Reports received at the General Land Office show that over forty-nine thousand seven hundred acres were entered at the District Land Office of Broomeville, Mo. The greater portion were for actual homestead settlement, part cash sales, amounting to $10,462, and the residue bounty land locations. At the Lacrosse office, Wisconsin, seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six acres were taken up, and at Topeka, Kansas, five thousand acres were taken up, making in all, sixty-five thousand one hundred and sixty-two acres.

IMMIGRATION.

The Secretary of State has sent a letter to Representative WASHBURNE, of Illinois, Chairman of the Committee on Commerce, showing the necessity for the passage of the bill amendatory of the act to encourage immigration. The first section, placing restrictions upon visiting passenger vessels in the Port of New-York, the Secretary explains, is to assure the emigrants of Government protection, and caution them against the devices of sharpers. In the second section the provision for a summary proceeding against persons illegally restraining immigrants on shipboard can only prevent abuses which usually remain uninvestigated on account of the transient stay of the wronged. It is stated that every passenger vessel arriving in New-York since the establishment of the United States Emigrant Office, without exception, has violated the passenger acts of 1855 and 1860. Other outrages have been committed. To remedy such abuses the Commissioner of Immigration is empowered to sue for penalties incurred; to unite in one action all causes of proceeding against any one ship or vessel; to cause the testimony of witnesses to be taken before any Commissioner of the United States, and to compound any such penalties. This is designed to prevent tedious suits, and obtain speedy justice. The sixth section requires all penalties to be paid to the Superintendents, and by them accounted for to the Commissioner, as the person in whose hands it is found advisable to concentrate all matters in which emigrants are interested. Another section makes it penal in masters and captains to bring criminals to the United States. An exemplary penalty is inserted to prevent collusion between masters of vessels and criminals. The twelfth section requires a survey of passenger-ships by naval surveyors, and the issue of licenses authorizing the number of passengers, the overcrowding of whom is one of the most frightful of abuses against emigrants. The establishment of emigrant offices is contemplated at Boston, New-Orleans, San Francisco, Baltimore and Philadelphia, with Superintendents at each, excepting that the two last-named ports are placed under one Superintendent. The necessity of such offices as to each of these points is fully canvassed. With reference to New-Orleans, it is stated that six millions of acres of public lands invite emigrants to Louisiana.

GENERAL GRANT'S FAST DRIVING.

Gen. GRANT, to-day, acknowledged the service of a warrant for fast driving, and appeared before the Justice of the Peace and paid the fine.

FREEDMEN WANTED.

There are at present in the city quite a number of planters and agents for the purpose of hiring freedmen to labor on plantations in Tennessee, Mississippi and other Southern States; among them, one of the latter State who wishes to hire two hundred and fifty, and, up to Saturday night, had engaged nearly two hundred; and a lady of the former State, who will engage quite a number. It is estimated that about four hundred and fifty were hired last week by these and other parties, and left for their new places of abode.

ISSUE OF PARDONS.

Warrants for pardon were issued from the Attorney-General's Office to-day, by direction of the President, for forty individuals, the majority of whom are residents of Georgia, Louisiana and Texas. A few were pardoned under the first exception, but the majority of them under the twenty thousand dollar clause.

ESCAPE OF MANKIN, THE ALLEGED MURDERER.

Gen. AUGUR has been notified of the escape of OSCAR MANKIN, one of the Alexandria rioters, from the Alexandria jail, where he was awaiting trial on the charge of murder. His escape is attributed to the negligence of a prominent officer. Measures have been taken for his recapture.

SALES OF GOVERNMENT LIVE STOCK.

Reports of the sales of animals received at the Quartermaster-General's office to date show sales since May 1, 1865, of 108,751 horses, and 103,432 mules; total, 212,183 animals, for which the Government has received the sum of $14,621,022.

TREATY WITH THE CHIPPEWAS.

A treaty with the Bois Fort Band of Chippewas was signed on Saturday, by Commissioners COOLEY and L. E. WEBB, on the part of the Government. By this treaty the United States obtains the Vermelian Lake gold fields, and the Bois Fort Band a new reservation fifty miles further west. The Indians return perfectly satisfied with the liberal spirit exhibited by the Commissioners of the United States.

RUM IN THE CAPITOL.

Senator WILSON introduced a resolution in the Senate to-day to prohibit the sale of spirituous liquors in the Capitol building. Just at the close of the last session of Congress, A resolution of a similar character was passed in the Senate, that resolution, however, was intended to abolish what was known as the "hole in the wall," a drinking room in the Senate wing of the Capital where certain Senators something less than half-a-dozen in number were accustomed to go and "smile" so frequently that they became unfit for business and often came into the Senate chamber disgustingly intoxicated. The object of the resolution passed to-day is to remove the immediate cause of exhibitions of a mortifying character which are occasionally witnessed in the Capitol building at the present session of Congress. In order to make the work effectual, however, the Senate will have to go further than a mere prohibition of the sale of liquor in the buildings. Its presence and sly use in certain of the offices and committee rooms must also be prohibited, or the resolution will amount to nothing. Senator MCDOUGALL made a brief speech in opposition to the resolution, and during its delivery kept the Senate in a continuous laugh. This was a theme on which the genial Senator from California is acknowledged to be competent to speak, and he was unusually happy, as well in his manner as in his matter. After drawing upon the ancients and the classics to prove the virtues and good uses of wine, Mr. MCDOUGAL concluded by saying: "These exaltants that bring us up above the common measure of the brute. Wine and oil elevate us, enable us to seize great facts, inspirations which, once possessed, are ours forever; and those who never go beyond the mere beastly means of animal support, never live in the high planes of life, and cannot achieve them. I believe in women, wine, whisky and war. The Senator thought that it would be well if one of the gentlemen who advocated the resolution (Mr. CONNESS) indulged in somewhat more generous wine, and another (Mr. CLARK) would receive service from its use, and it would have a kindly influence upon a third, Mr. WILSON. The Senate agreed to the resolution by Mr. MCDOUGALL and Mr. DAVIS only voting against it.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

The following correspondence has been received at the State Department:

UNITED STATES CONSULATE,
ANTWERP, March 13, 1866.

To his Excellency, the Governor of Antwerp:

SIR: Having been this morning informed that the cattle plague has recently broken out with much virulence in your Province, and especially in the neighborhood of this city, knowing that this formidable cattle disease is a subject of much interest to all countries holding international communication, I am anxious to communicate to my Government any facts relating to its nature, progress or measures of arrest, which may prove valuable in the contingency of its Trans-Atlantic development. As I am anxious to communicate only well authenticated facts may I beg you to favor me with a statement whether the disease has really broken out as I have been informed; to what extent it has progressed, and what means you have found most effectual in preventing its spread.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOHN WILSON,
U. S. Consul.

[Translation.]

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT OF ANTWERP,
March 14, 1866.

MR. CONSUL: According to the desire expressed in your letter of the 13th inst., I have the honor to transmit you a copy of a pamphlet on the "Cattle Plague," containing the regulations in force upon this subject in Belgium. I also inclose a copy of the law of the 7th of February last, and of the Royal and Ministerial decrees, as well as the instructions with respect to these new regulations. The cattle plague, to which you refer in your note had not been observed in the Province of Antwerp since the 2d of February, but has just broken out again. It appeared at the same time in three different parishes, viz: Antwerp, Stamaud and Maxem. In the two first localities the disease was suppressed by the sacrifice of four animals. In the last it became necessary to sacrifice all the animals to the number of one hundred and thirty-six, in the stables of a distiller at Maxem. The veterinary surgeons state that on examination of the bodies after death they found fifty-two animals affected by the disease. This outbreak has now been stamped out, and every precautionary measure has been taken to remove any danger which may result therefrom. Receive, Mr. Consul, the assurance of my very distinguished consideration.

The Governor, CHEOR PYCHE.

To JOHN WILSON, Esq., U. S. Consul, Antwerp.

THIRTY-NINTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

SENATE......WEDNESDAY, April 11.

PETITIONS.

Mr. SUMNER presented a petition asking for Congressional aid for the building of a European and North American Railroad, to connect Halifax with the United States.

The petition was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. SHERMAN presented petitions for protection to American industry, which were referred to the Finance Committee.

PROTECTION TO ARMY OFFICERS.

Mr. CLARK, from the Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred a resolution inquiring what legislation is necessary to protect army officers from liability to the civil courts for acts done in the performance of military duty, asked that the Committee be discharged from further consideration of the matter, the subject being covered by a bill already reported from the Committee.

It was so ordered.

THE WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Mr. CONNESS introduced a joint resolution to extend the time for the completion of the first twenty miles of the Western Pacific Railroad to November next, which was referred to the Committee on the Pacific Railroad.

EDUCATION FOR SOLDIERS.

Mr. SUMNER offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Committee on Military Affairs be directed to consider the expediency of providing a system of education for the soldiers in the Army of the United States, so that the time which is not employed in post or garrison duty may be occupied in moral and intellectual improvement, to the end that the Army of the United States may be a nursery of officers and also of citizens.

SALE OF LIQUOR IN THE CAPITOL.

Mr. WILSON introduced a resolution to prohibit the sale of spirituous livuors in the Capitol building.

Mr. MCDOUGALL made a few remarks on the subject, which he concluded by saying that he was in favor of wine, whisky and war.

Mr. WILSON said that during the last few years the employes of the Capitol had been taxed to keep members of Congress in whisky. Whisky had been kept in committee rooms and other parts of the Capitol building for the accommodation of Congressmen.

Mr. MCDOUGALL demanded the yeas and nays on the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. GRIMES said that the resolution ought to go to the Committee on Public Buildings.

Mr. CLARK said that he did not know how the matter was now, but a year or two ago little boys employed as pages were sent home drunk. There should be something done to prevent the disgraceful scenes which had been witnessed about the Capitol of late.

Mr. CONNESS made some remarks on the evils of intemperance in legislative bodies.

Mr. MCDOUGALL said he did not know but what it would be well for the sober Senator from California (CONNESS) to indulge himself in a little generous wine. He did not know but what it would be better for the Senator from New-Hampshire (CLARK) to do so also, and he was sure that it would have a kindly influence on the Senator from Massachusetts (WILSON) to do the same thing.

The resolution was adopted by yeas 33, nays 2. Messrs. DAVIS and MCDOUGALL voting in the negative.

REIMBURSING KANSAS.

Mr. POMEROY called up the bill to reimburse the State of Kansas for the expenses in calling out the militia to repel invasions, which was passed.

HABEAS CORPUS.

The House bill in relation to the writ of habeas corpus was then taken up and read.

Mr. SAULSBURY said the bill was a very important one. He moved that its further consideration be postponed until to-morrow. He believed the bill to be wholly unconstitutional, and asked time to examine it.

Mr. HENDERSON spoke in favor of Mr. SAULSBURY's motion. He did not believe the bill had received the attention it deserved. It had been laid upon the tables of Senators, but like many other bills it had not been examined.

Mr. CLARK did not believe that Senators on the other side needed further time to consider the bill. It was evident that they had examined it and made up their opinions concerning it.

Mr. EDMUNDS desired a postponement, as he wished to examine the bill. He was fearful that injustice might be done under this bill in some of the districts of the country where martial law has not existed.

The further consideration of the bill was then postponed until to-morrow.

JURORS AND WRITS OF ERROR.

Mr. CLARK called up the bill in relation to the qualification of jurors and writs of error in certain cases.

This bill, as reported from the Judiciary Committee is as follows:

That no person shall be disqualified to act upon any grand or petit jury by reason of having formed or expressed an opinion upon the matter or cause to be submitted to such jury founded upon public rumor, statements in the public journals or common notoriety, provided he be otherwise competent, and it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Court, upon his declaration under oath or otherwise, that he can and will, notwithstanding such an opinion, act impartially upon the matters to be submitted to him.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That any question of law arising upon the trial of any person in any District or Circuit Court of the United States, or of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for any offence, the punishment whereof may be death, may be removed to the Supreme Court of the United States by writ of error to be sued out within sixty days after the entry of the final judgment in such case in the Court below, and thereupon proceedings shall be stayed in said Courts and the questions of law heard and determined in said Supreme Court of the United States, and such order sent to the Court below, affirming or reversing the judgment as the determination of such questions of law may require.

Mr. HARRIS desired the postponement of the above, and it was postponed until to-morrow.

THE CHOLERA CONGRESS.

Mr. WILSON asked the Senate to take up a resolution for the representation of the United States at the International Cholera Congress at Constantinople.

Mr. SUMNER said this subject was before the Committee on Foreign Relations, and he thought the Senate should wait for the report of that Committee.

Mr. WILSON said it would cost only $2,000 to defray the expenses of two army surgeons to Constantinople. The resolution was recommended by the Surgeon-General of the Army.

Mr. SUMNER said that the question which came up in the Committee on Foreign Relations was, whether it was best to have the representatives of the United States at the Commission confined to army officers, or whether it ought not to be composed in part of citizen surgeons.

Mr. GRIMES asked if the Cholera Commission had not adjourned.

Mr. SUMNER said his information was that it had adjourned, but not sine die.

Mr. WILSON then withdrew his motion to call up the resolution.

RELIEF OF NAVAL CONTRACTORS.

Mr. NYE called up the bill appropriating certain sums—in the aggregate amount, $2,250,000—for the relief of naval contractors, to indemnify them against loss sustained in building vessels of war for the Government. This bill was drawn up in pursuance of the recommendation of a Commission appointed to investigate the subject.

Mr. GRIMES read an analysis of the cases presented in the bill, which he said was prepared at his request by the Navy Department. He opposed the bill because it was an "omnibus" bill, not because it did not contain some just claims.

Mr. CONNESS spoke of the bill as containing too great a combination of claims. He hoped each case would be put upon its merits separately.

Mr. HENDRICKS said that he, Mr. VAN WINKLE and Mr. NYE were constituted a Sub-Committee of the Committee on Naval Affairs, to consider the subject embraced in the bill. They had given the matter a great deal of attention, and their report had received the sanction of the Naval Committee, with the exception of one of its members (Mr. GRIMES.) He believed all the claims in the bill were just, as they had all been carefully and separately examined.

Further consideration of the subject was then postponed until to-morrow.

THE MILITIA BILL.

Mr. WILSON introduced a bill to provide for the national defence, by establishing a uniform militia and organizing an active volunteer militia throughout the United States. It is the original bill ordered to be recommitted with a few alterations. The Bureau of Militia is placed in the War Department, instead of the Adjutant-General's Department of the Army, under the supervision of the Commanding General of the Army. The pay of the chief officer is made that of a Brigadier-General, instead of that of a Colonel of cavalry.

To the section authorizing a regiment to each Congressional District, the following proviso is annexed;

Provided, That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to authorize or require the disbandment of any regiment organized under its provisions, by reason of the reduction of the number of Congressional Districts in any State.

A few other minor or verbal changes were made.

The Senate adjourned at 4:30 P. M.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.

Mr. HOLMES presented the resolution of the House of Assembly of the New-York Legislature, declaring that the action of the New-York Senators on the Civil Rights Bill was approved, and requesting the New-York Representatives to vote for the bill, notwithstanding the President's veto.

Mr. WARNER made a personal explanation relating to his absence when the vote was taken on the Civil Rights Bill. It was his understanding that he was paired with Mr. JOHNSON, of Pennsylvania, who was absent on account of sickness. If he (Mr. WARNER) had been present he should have voted most cheerfully for the bill.

LAKE STEAMERS.

Mr. ELIOT, from the Committee on Commerce, reported back the Senate bill to authorize the issue of American registers to the steam vessels Michigan, Dispatch and William K. Miner, with an amendment applying to a dozen other lake steamers. The amendment was agreed to, and the bill passed.

CLAIMS.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Indiana, and Mr. WASHBURN, of Massachusetts, and Messrs. DELANO and THORNTON, presented a large number of adverse reports from the Committee on Claims, which were laid on the table.

IDAHO.

Mr. DRIGGS, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported back the bill to establish a land office in the Territory of Idaho, which was considered and passed.

ARMY PAY.

Mr. SCHENCK, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back, with a substitute the bill to regulate the pay of the army, and asked that it be postponed and made a special order for this day fortnight, and until disposed of. It was so ordered.

RELIEF.

Mr. BUNDY offered a resolution, which was adopted, reciting that WILLIAM MERCER, of the County of Ross, State of Ohio, had furnished seven sons and one grandson to the army of the United States during the late rebellion, some of whom were minors, and were killed or died in the service, and that WILLIAM MERCER and his wife were aged and infirm, and without the necessary means to support themselves in their old age, and instructing the Committee on Invalid Pensions to inquire into the propriety of placing the name of WILLIAM MERCER on the list of invalid pensioners.

NATIONAL BANKS.

Mr. DAWES offered a resolution, which was adopted, directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire whether any legislation is necessary to make the shares in National Banks liable to attachment and levy of execution under State law for the payment of debts of the owner.

PAY.

Mr. ECKLEY offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Military Affairs to inquire into the expediency of allowing three months' extra pay to the returned prisoners who survived the fate of the steamer Sul'ana, the same as other returned prisoners are allowed.

A DINNER.

Mr. RICE, of Maine, offered a resolution reciting that a morning paper announced the fact that the Manhattan Club of New-York proposed to give to JAMES BROOKS a public dinner next Monday, and that Messrs. STOCKTON and VOORHEES were expected to be present, and resolving that the Chairman of the Committee of Elections, and such other members of that Committee as may be invited, shall be granted leave of absence to attend such meeting and dinner. [Laughter.]

Mr. HARDING, of Kentucky, wanted to move an amendment, but Mr. RICE, of Maine, withdrew the resolution.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION.

Mr. INGERSOLL rose to a personal explanation, and stated that he was represented in the Baltimore American as having engaged the other day in making dilatory motions to prevent a vote on the Civil Rights Bill. He disclaimed doing so, leaving the credit of such motions to his friend from Wisconsin (Mr. ELDRIDGE.)

The Speaker stated that the correction of the mistake had appeared in this morning's Baltimore American.

ARMY PAYMASTERS.

The House proceeded to consider the bill from the Committee on Military Affairs for the relief of Paymasters in the army. A summary of the bill was contained in the report of yesterday's proceedings. The bill gave rise to much discussion.

Mr. SCHENCK moved to amend the bill by adding the words "and all persons who have served as Paymasters or Additional Paymasters." The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. SPALDING moved to amend by a proviso, that the proper accounting officers of the Treasury shall, in the settlement of the accounts of Paymasters, allow them all charges for payments actually made by them to the troops in good faith, and without fraudulent practice or intent; provided further that no Paymaster-General shall be satisfied by full and complete proof that such payments were actually made in good faith and without fraudulent purpose and intent. The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. DAVIS inquired of the Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs why this bill was reported to increase the compensation of Paymasters, while the country was burdened with indebtedness, without even, so far as appeared, any solicitation on the part of those for whose benefit it was designed. He thought there was no precedent for such legislation.

Mr. HOTCHKISS entered his protest against the passage of this bill. The office of Paymaster was a volunteer office. Men entered into it knowing what their compensation was to be. This bill should not be passed for the sake of incompetent Paymasters who may have lost moneys on account of irregularities; and as to competent Paymasters, many of them had made small fortunes, if not large ones, by the office.

Mr. SCHENCK said that the Committee on Military Affairs had reported this bill, actuated by a sense of public justice toward these officials, and the Committee was not to be deterred by any outcry of popular clamor. The gentleman from New-York (DAVIS) had said there was no precedent for this bill. That was not so; there were precedents for it. A bill was passed after the war with Mexico allowing Paymasters a similar commission.

Mr. DAVIS thought that as that was a sin of commission, it should be followed by the sin of omission.

Mr. SCHENCK—Then you back out from your first position that there was no precedent for this bill?

Mr. DAVIS—Oh, certainly.

Mr. LE BLOND inquired whether any calculation had been made to ascertain how much this bill would draw from the Treasury.

Mr. SCHENCK replied that he had, but could not now give the precise figures. He explained that when payments were made in the field, or on the march, or to troops anywhere in the front, they were made especially in the first years of the war, without experience in the mode of business, either at Washington or in the field. They were made without forms sufficient to instruct, advise and lead those Paymasters to an exact and precise performance of their duties, so that they might avoid risks. The consequence was that every Paymaster, so far from making a fortune, had been left with stoppage against his accounts because of informality. The stoppages amounted, in the average, to $25,000 each for the first half of the war. They were not made on account of any default, but because soldiers were permitted to sign pay-rolls by making a cross without a witness.

Mr. DARLING inquired how many Paymasters there had been in the army.

Mr. SCHENCK replied that there had been some five or six hundred.

Mr. DARLING asked what would be the largest amount paid to any Paymaster under this law.

Mr. SCHENCK replied that it was limited to one thousand dollars per annum during the war.

Mr. DARLING calculated that as each Paymaster would have some five thousand dollars, that would require an aggregate sum of two millions and a half. He asked why naval Paymasters were not included in the terms of the bill. Army Paymasters ranked as Majors, and received about three thousand dollars a year. They had been able to keep fast horses and perhaps fast other things. [Laughter.] Large amounts of Government funds held by these men had been used in Wall-street for speculating purposes. The naval Paymasters, on the other hand, had gone through the perils of war and received only fourteen hundred dollars per annum. Their responsibilities had been quite as great and their personal risk a great deal more. He was willing to see justice done to all, and did not wish to see any class legislation.

Mr. SCHENCK replied that nothing connected with the navy had been referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. To show the difficulties under which army Paymasters had labored, he sent up and had read by the Clerk a letter from one of those officers, detailing the difficulties of the position. He did not pretend that a Paymaster, receiving the compensation of a Major, was not well enough paid for his duties under ordinary circumstances; but Congress was legislating now as it found it necessary to do in all former cases at the close of a war, with the reasons for it increased ten thousand fold, from the nature of the late war, the number of troops, &c. Beside, his colleague (BINGHAM) had an amendment to offer which would confine this allowance to a set-off against stoppages.

Mr. BINGHAM sent up his amendment to be read. It provides that the additional pay allowed by the act should only be applied to the satisfaction of stoppages and suspensions on the accounts of Paymasters. He mentioned the case of a Paymaster who had in good faith paid $25,000 to an Iowa regiment which was not entitled to it.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Indiana, regarded the amendment as simply offering a premium to a Paymaster's ignorance or faults. No stoppage was on record against any Paymaster except for negligence, fault or crime on his part. Without the amendment the bill was simply a proposition to increase the pay of Paymasters, not in the future, but for the past five years. Why? Was it because their pay was not sufficient in the first place? Was it because $3,000 a year was not enough? That plea could not be made, for every officer and soldier went into the army because he had acted in good faith and had lost by it. The Paymaster had the easiest and the best berth in the army and if he attended to his duty as he should have done, he received better pay than any other officer in the army.

Mr. SMITH offered an amendment to add the words, "to troops actually serving in the field;" so as to make the clause read: All sums actually disbursed by them to troops actually serving in the field.

Mr. SCHENCK accepted the amendment, and moved the previous question.

The House refused to second the previous question, and the morning hour having expired, the bill went over till to-morrow.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Mr. BIDWELL, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported back, with a substitute, the bill to amend the Agricultural College Act.

After a pretty discursive debate on the amendment of the substitute, the substitute was agreed to, and the bill passed by a vote of 96 to 33.

The bill, as passed, enacts that the time in which the several States may comply with the provisions of the act of July 2, 1862, entitled "An act donating public lands to the several States and Territories, which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts," is hereby extended so that the acceptance of the benefits of the said act may be expressed within three years from the passage of this act, and the colleges required by the said act may be provided within five years from date of the filing of such acceptance with the Commissioner of the General Land Office, provided that the States now represented in Congress which have not availed themselves of the grant of lands contained in the said act of July 2, 1862, be and they are hereby entitled to so avail themselves of the benefits thereof by complying with the provisions of the said act, and of this act according to their present representation in Congress; provided further, that where any Territory shall become a State, and be admitted into the Union, such new State shall be entitled to the benefits of the said act of July 2, 1862, by expressing the acceptance therein required within three years of its admission into the Union, and providing the college or colleges within five years after such acceptance prescribed in this act; provided further that any State which has heretofore expressed its acceptance of the act herein referred to, shall have the period of five years within which to provide at least one college, as described in the 4th section of said act, after the time for providing said college according to this act of July 2, 1862, shall have expired.

THE HOWARD INSTITUTE.

Mr. INGERSOLL introduced a bill to incorporate the Howard Institute and Home for the District of Columbia. This was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia, after having been read twice.

PETITIONS.

Mr. KETCHAM presented the petition of one hundred and four citizens of Pine Plains, N. Y., asking for increased protection on American wool.

Also, the memorial of citizens of Hudson, N. Y., for a change in the law for the taxation of stoves, composed of cast and sheet iron respectively, so that the tax shall be imposed on the increased value only.

These were appropriately referred.

REIMBURSING THE STATE OF MISSOURI.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, and proceeded to the consideration of the Senate bill, passed March 9, to reimburse the State of Missouri for moneys expended for the United States, in enrolling, equipping and provisioning the militia forces to aid in suppressing the rebellion.

The bill appropriates $6,775,000. The Committee on Appropriations report an amendment reducing the amount by $60,000.

Mr. WENTWORTH moved to amend by striking out the first section, and argued that the bill should have been referred, not to the Committee on Appropriations, but to the Committee of Claims.

Mr. STEVENS defended the bill.

Mr. LOAN made an hour's speech, detailing the history of the circumstances which formed the basis of this claim against the Government.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, agreed with his colleague (WENTWORTH) that the bill should have been referred to the Committee of Claims. It was nothing but a claim of the State of Missouri. He proceeded to discuss the history of affairs in Missouri during the war.

He yielded to Mr. BENJAMIN, who corrected this history in some particulars.

Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, inquired whether the appropriation in the bill included the amount of direct tax which was to be deducted.

Mr. LOAN replied that the amount of the claim was $7,456,000, and that from that sum was deducted the amount of direct tax, over $700,000.

Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, understood then, that this bill in effect appropriated over $7,000,000.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, said that all this was in the line of his remarks. Here was a bill involving this large amount, reported from a Committee which had really no jurisdiction over it, and without any written report to enable the House to understand it. He did not want to do injustice to the State of Missouri, but he thought the Committee should rise and report back the bill, and that the House should then refer it to the Committee of Claims. He pointed out the impropriety of giving one man, to be appointed by the President, the power conferred upon the Commissioner in this bill.

Mr. KASSON suggested an amendment, providing for three Commissioners instead of one, to be appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Mr. LOAN had no objection to that.

Mr. WRIGHT pointed out the fact that the militia of New-Jersey had marched into Pennsylvania to defend that State from invasion, and that had not yet been paid in full. A general bill had been reported, and it was unfair to permit Missouri to come in and have special legislation for her benefit.

Mr. VAN HORN, of Missouri, said the gentleman from New-Jersey was not discussing facts. The general bill he referred to was not a law and might never be a law; but this case did not come within that category. Missouri was claiming in this bill nothing for expenses or bounties. She had paid several millions for these purposes, but was not now making any claim for that. This bill was for troops that had been called out by State authority and been paid by the State, but this claim was for troops called out by the United States Government, and who served in the army. It was precisely like the case of Pennsylvania, which State was reimbursed by a law passed the other day.

Mr. WRIGHT inquired how much money Missouri had received from Congress on account of such claims as this.

Mr. BENJAMIN replied that she had not received one dollar.

Mr. WRIGHT said he had been told that she had received $800,000. This bill should not pass while New-Jersey had been made to pay $26,000,000 which she had expended in a good cause, and with a free heart.

General debate on the bill was closed by unanimous consent.

Mr. KASSON moved to amend the bill by making the first section read: "The President shall, with the advice and consent of the Senate, appoint three Commissioners." The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, moved to amend the amendment, by adding to the first section the following:

And said Commissioners shall sit as a board in the State of Missouri, and shall be authorized to call witnesses before them and examine them under oath, and to appoint a Clerk, at a compensation of $1,500 per annum, during the time he shall be employed.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was further amended, and the Committee rose, and reported back the bill and amendments.

The various amendments were agreed to.

The question being on the passage of the bill, Mr. LE BLOND demanded the yeas and nays, which were refused.

The bill was passed by a vote on division of 78 to 25.

As amended, and passed, it reads as follows:

That immediately after the passage of this act, the President shall, with the advice and consent of the Senate, appoint three Commissioners, whose duty it shall be to ascertain the amount of money expended by the State of Missouri in enrolling, equipping, subsisting, and paying such State forces as have been called into service in said State since the 24th day of August, 1861, to act in concert with the United States forces in the suppression of the rebellion against the United States. And said Commissioners shall be authorized to sit as a Board in the State of Missouri, and shall be authorized to call witnesses, and examine them under oath. And said Commissioners shall be authorized to employ a clerk, at a rate of compensation not exceeding $1,500 per annum.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the Commissioners so appointed shall proceed, subject to regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of War, at once to examine all the items of expenditures made by said State for the purpose herein named, allowing only for disbursements made and amounts assumed by said State for enrolling, equipping, subsisting and paying such troops as were called out by the Governor of said State, under the authority and by the direction of the United States Department Commander, commanding the district in which Missouri may have, at the time been included, by the express order, consent or concurrence of such Commander; or which may have been employed in suppressing rebellion in said State, under the authority and command of Federal officers. And no allowance shall be made for any State troops who did not perform actual military service in full concert and cooperation with the military authorities of the United States, and subject to their orders.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That in making up said account for the convenience of the accounting officers of the Government, the Commissioners shall state separately the amounts expended respectively for enrolling, equipping, arming, subsisting and paying said troops, and from the aggregate amount they shall deduct the amount due by the said State to the United States under the act entitled "An act to provide increased revenue from imports, pay interest on the public debt, and for other purposes," approved Aug. 5, 1861.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That in the adjustment of accounts under this act, the Commissioners shall not allow for any expenditures or compensation for services at a rate greater than was at the time authorized by the laws of the United States, and the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of War.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That when said Commissioners shall have made up said account and ascertained the balance, as herein directed, they shall make a written report thereof, showing the different items of expenditure, as hereinbefore stated to the Secretary of the Treasury, and shall transmit all the testimony taken by them and all vouchers to the Secretary of the Treasury, and if upon examination by the proper accounting officers of the Treasury, the accounting therein is found to be just and correct, the same shall be paid.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the Commissioners to be appointed as aforesaid shall, before proceeding to the discharge of their duties, be severally sworn that they will carefully examine the accounts existing between the United States and the State of Missouri, and that they will, to the best of their ability, make a just, true and impartial statement thereof, as required by this act. They shall receive such compensation for their services as may be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, not exceeding $10 per day for each day of actual service.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That the sum of $6,715,029 65, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be and the same is hereby appropriated to carry this act into effect.

At 4 45 the House adjourned.

Resolutions were adopted declaring that representation goes with taxation, and expressing a desire that civil and political privileges be given to the late rebellious States when compatible with national safety, and that of the loyal people in those States. The closing resolution protests against taxation or the selling of Government mineral lands.

WEDNESDAY, April 11—P. M.

There was a further advance of ½ to ⅝ per cent. in Exchange to-day, making the whole rise since the disturbing European news of yesterday and the day before from 106 to 107¾ ₱ cent. on London for first-class or what may be more rightly termed standard Bills. It seemed doubtful near the close of 'Change hours whether the extreme advance would be maintained, as most remitters are inclined to postpone their purchases for Saturday's mail for further advices from the other side. Gold advanced to 127¼ ₱ cent., but subsequently fell back to 126⅞ ₱ cent. The most has been made by the speculators in Gold and Exchange and United States 5-20s of 1862 out of the rumors of a large amount of Bonds being on the way from the Continent. Thus far more Bonds have probably been sold three times over "to arrive" than the sellers have any certain assurance that the Bonds will come to them. In other words, the sales are made short on the calculation that the Bonds will come out "to somebody or another," whereby they can be bought cheaper for delivery than present contract price. The same game was played last Spring when gold fell in New-York to $130@$128 ₱ cent. on the surrender of LEE, and the conclusion of hostilities. A few parcels of Bonds did come out—probably three or four millions in the aggregate, and more than twice the amount soon went over again. The impression among our most intelligent German Bankers to-day is, that the political excitement between Prussia and Austria will be short-lived, and that as to the actual conflict of arms, nothing of the sort will be suffered to take place. They say there is less probability of such an eventuality than in 1848 when the armies of these two powers confronted each other.

On the increasing ease in Money there is a further advance in United States 7.30 ₱ cents. to 100⅜@100½ ₱ cent. for the First and Second series and 100¼@⅜ for the Third. A further considerable business was done in United States 5-20s of 1862, mostly to arrive, at 103⅝ ₱ cent, while the 1864s sold at 103⅜@⅝ and the 1865s at 104 ₱ cent.

At the Stock Exchange the fancy Miscellaneous Shares were in active speculative demand. Canton Land Company sold as high as 55¼ and Quicksilver Company at 47½; Mariposa Preference shares, 2 @20½ ₱ cent., and Common, 12⅜ ₱ cent.; Pacific Mail up to 218 ₱ cent.

The Railways were also generally firm, though Erie was a prominent exception, the speculation ranging 75@73⅞@74 ₱ cent., and the majority of the Street rather disposed to bear the stock at about current figures. The chances are they will oversell it, and that upon any well-sustained general rise on the New-York and Western Roads, Erie will be found no special exception to the prevailing temper of the market.

At the Afternoon Boards the United States 5-20s were firmer, and the Railways on the advance. On the Miscellaneous list there was a reaction of 2½@3 ₱ cent. from the highest sales of Canton, while Quicksilver, Cumberland and Mariposa were firm. At 5:30 P. M. the following quotations were made as compared with Tuesday night:

We had supposed that our suspicious neighbor of the Journal of Commerce would be less unhappy in his mind after the passage of the Funding Bill through Congress with the following section:

> SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the Secretary of the Treasury shall report to Congress at the commencement of the next session, the amount of exchanges made or money borrowed under this act, and of whom, and upon what terms; and also the amount and character of indebtedness retired under this act, and the act to which this is an amendment, with a detailed statement of the expense of making such loans and exchanges.

But he refuses to be comforted. He cannot wait to know how the Secretary manages his business. He has repeatedly "demanded" explanations of him, but has now "settled down to the conviction that it is useless to probe the ulcer further, since there is nothing but corruption to be revealed."

We can offer no additional consolation at present. Of course the Secretary will render his accounts to Congress next December. But in the meantime, as in the time past, he will not tell our neighbor when he is going to sell Gold; how much he has to sell, or means to sell, or at what price, or whether by proclamation and vendue or quietly on the current market. He has managed this matter in his own way for ten months past, and to the pretty general approval of every sensible merchant as well as to the satisfaction of the public at large. He will probably do the same thing for ten months to come. Nor will he tell us or our neighbor when or how or on what terms he occasionally protects his 10-40's or 7-30's when selling too low in the market, or how and to what advantage to the Treasury he changes these or his Compound Notes into common currency or into 5-20's. Mr. JAMES GUTHRIE, the distinguished Ex-Secretary of the Treasury, said in the Senate the other day that he knew Mr. MCCULLOCH well; had often met him as a banker in financial conventions; had great confidence in his prudence and sagacity; unqualified reliance upon his integrity; was ready to trust him with all the authority of the Funding Bill and more; and, to crown the matter, every Democratic Senator voted with and several of them volunteered to speak like Mr. GUTHRIE. But for all this our Democratic neighbor would bring him into immediate judgment!

The Export list for the week, rendered last night from the Custom-house, foots up, in declared (currency) values, $6,069,510. The proportions of cotton and other domestic articles are:

Value of 20,142 bales cotton....	$3,606,560

DISINFECTION, HEALTH.

THE NEW-YORK
DISINFECTING COMPANY,
OFFICE NO. 35 PINE-ST.
LABORATORY NOS. 298, 300 AND 302 HENRY-ST.

The above Company being newly organized on a permanent basis, and having erected an extensive Laboratory, with Dr. D. E. Courtaret, the celebrated French chemist, as its scientific conductor, is now prepared to furnish the public, in large or small quantities, Doctor Courtaret's patent DISINFECTING FLUIDS, for use in sick-rooms, water-closets, urinals, privies, cesspools, sewers, gutters, ships, railroads, hospitals, prisons and public institutions of all kinds, slaughter-houses, offal, fat-melting and bone-boiling establishments, all kinds of manures, swampy grounds, infected ships, streets and places; in fact, for every place and for all conditions of things where poisonous and offensive gases are generated. These disinfecting agents are not only DEODORIZERS, but ANTI-SEPTICS, ANTI-PUTRESENTS and DISINFECTANTS in the largest and most scientific meaning of the words. They do not remove disagreeable and noxious odors and gases by substituting other and pleasanter ones instead; but by and through true chemical principles, rendering the gases, fluids and solids with which they come in contact harmless, and causing many of them to become of immense value to every farmer and agriculturist. They simply and effectually destroy ALL offensive odors and health-destroying gases, leaving in their places pure healthful air. Nor are these fluids injurious to the utensils, plumbing or sewers in which they are used. The low prices at which they can be furnished will place them within the reach of ALL who desire cleanliness and health. The attention of MEDICAL MEN is particularly called to this subject; and all persons interested in sanitary measures are invited to give these disinfectants a trial. As there are SEVEN different disinfecting compounds prepared to meet all the evils found in the locations and materials enumerated above, the purchaser will plainly describe the premises or articles he wishes to disinfect, when the proper fluid or fluids will be furnished to meet each case. Attached are a few of the testimonials lately given in favor of this GREAT DISCOVERY, which, with hundreds of others, can be seen at the Company's office, No. 35 Pine-st.

When requested, persons in the Company's employment will be sent to any portion of the City to perform the operation of disinfection at a reasonable charge.

DELEVAN HOUSE, ALBANY, March 30, 1866.

To the President of the New-York Disinfecting Company:

DEAR SIR: Having made a thorough trial of the Disinfecting Fluid lately introduced to us by Mr. Wm. T. Black, we are prepared to testify to the public that it is all that it is represented to be, and most peculiarly adapted to the purposes for which it is prepared, and do hereby recommend its use as a perfect disinfectant. We can the more readily do so, inasmuch as we have made many trials of disinfectants generally, but now consider that we have found an article which surpasses all others, both as regards price as well as proving an effectual remedy against all bad odors.

We are, Sir, yours, &c., T. ROESSEL & CO.

NEW-YORK, April 9, 1866.

To the President of the New-York Disinfecting Company:

DEAR SIR: We have used Dr. Courtaret's Patent Disinfectant, and have thoroughly tested the same in every particular, and can pronounce it without exception to be the best we have ever known.

Its effect upon any and every matter is complete and instantaneous.

G. A. STETSON, Astor House.

ADVERTISING OF THE CITY PRESS.

The Times the Great Organ of the Business Public.

Annexed is the aggregate amount of advertising returned to the Revenue Department, (according to the Herald's figures,) for the thirteen months ending Dec. 31, 1864, and for the year ending Dec. 31, 1865, by THE TIMES and the Herald respectively:

Paper.	1864. No. of Lines.	1865. No. of Lines.	Total. No. of Lines.
TIMES	1,645,413	1,896,080	3,541,493
Herald	1,443,837	1,655,480	3,099,317
TIMES excess.	201,576	240,6 0	442,176

This shows THE TIMES to be, by its extensive and comprehensive circulation among business people, its larger sheet and clearer print, the chief organ of the advertisers of the Metropolis, and the medium of communicating their wants to the public.

NOTE.—The number of lines in the Herald columns averages about 260, counting short and long advertisements. It seems, then, that THE TIMES published, in 1865, nine hundred and thirty-six columns more advertisements than did the Herald. That fact conclusively decides which paper is the chosen Business Organ of the People.

To Advertisers.

Advertisers in the TIMES are requested to bring in their notices at as early an hour in the day as possible. If received after 8½ o'clock, it will be impossible to classify them under their proper heads.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

FROM EUROPE.

The steamship Asia arrived yesterday at Halifax, the North American at Portland, and the Pereire at this port, the first bringing two days' later news from Europe. The German difficulties were still increasing, and the actual occurrence of hostilities was looked forward to as merely a question of days. Military preparations were progressing with uninterrupted activity on both sides, although each Power protests that its intentions are entirely pacific, and that it arms only on account of the threatening attitude assumed by the other. It was reported that Prince NAPOLEON had left Paris for Italy for a secret mission of great importance, which it was surmised had something to do with the German complications. The other news from the Continent is meagre and of little interest.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday a resolution was adopted directing the Committee on Military Affairs to consider the provision of a system of education for the soldiers of the army. Mr. WILSON introduced a resolution to prohibit the sale of spirituous liquors in the Capitel building, which was adoped, yeas 33, nays 2. The House Bill in relation to the habeas corpus act was taken up, but its consideration was postponed until to-day. Mr. NYE called up the bill appropriating two and a quarter millions of dollars for the relief of naval contractors. Action on the bill was not taken.

The House took up the bill reported from the Committee of Military Affairs for the relief of Paymasters in the army. A summary of the bill was contained in the report of Tuesday's proceedings. The bill gave rise to much discussion, but went over until to-day. Mr. BIDWELL, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported back the bill to amend the Agricultural College Act, which was passed by a vote of 96 to 33. The bill appropriating $7,000,000 to the State of Missouri for money expended for military expenses during the late war, was passed, after receiving some amendments, by a vote of 68 to 25.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate yesterday the following bills were passed: Amending the charter of Brooklyn—it relates to the cleaning and improvement of the streets; authorizing the extension of the Dry Dock and East Broadway and Battery Railroad; to provide or the appointment of an additional number of 100 Notaries Public in and for the City of New-York; to make more comprehensive the act for the benefit of married women in insuring the lives of their husbands; to repeal the soldiers' voting law. The bill for the relief of MARY G. MILLER, otherwise known as Major Walker, was passed; it provides that no proceedings taken by her husband for divorce, during her absence from the State with the army, shall prejudice her right to apply for a divorce from him. Concurrent resolutions addressed to Congress in favor of claims of veterans of the war of 1812 were passed. The Governor nominated to the Senate in Executive Session to-day as Frontier Police Commissioners, SETH CLARK, JAMES ADAMS and J. S. BUELL, of Buffalo. The nominees for Emigrant Commissioners were not confirmed. The bill authorizing the Warwick Valley Railroad to extend their road to the New-Jersey State line, passed to a third reading.

In the Assembly the following bills were passed: For a railroad in Essex and other streets in New-York; relative to the College of the City of New-York; to incorporate the Metropolitan Improvement Company of New-York; to improve Atlantic-avenue, Brooklyn; to incorporate the Drew Theological Seminary; to authorize the Comptroller of the City of New-York to raise money by loan; to prevent cruelty to animals; in relation to proceedings in which Receivers of banks are parties. The bill to authorize the construction of a railroad in certain streets of New-York, and to provide for the storage of merchandise transported on the railroads, was recommitted. The bill to allow husband and wife, or either of them, to become witnesses for or against each other, was lost by 42 to 62. The bill to amend the act relative to sewerage and drainage in New-York City was passed. A bill to increase the capital stock of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company was reported. Also, the bill fixing the salaries of the stokers, drivers and firemen of the Metropolitan Fire District at $1,000. Also, to make fruit-stealing a misdemeanor.

GENERAL NEWS.

A case recently came up before the Georgia Chattahoochie Superior Court, which is interesting on account of the peculiar nature of the Judge's charge. The suit was that of BUSSEY vs. WILSON, to recover the value of the negro girl hired by BUSSEY to WILSON for 1862. It was alleged that the girl was burned through the negligence of WILSON, from the effects of which she died. The defendant claims that he had paid the hire of the girl up to Jan. 1, 1863, at which time the President's proclamation liberating slaves went into effect, and the plaintiff had no further right of property in the girl. The Court charged the Jury, first, that if the accident occurred prior to Jan. 1, 1863, when it was admitted by the parties that the plaintiff could claim the right of property in the slave, he had the right to maintain his action, and that the damages would depend upon the negligence and carelessness of the defendant. Second, that the proclamation of the President did not emancipate slaves in that State, but that the abolition of Slavery was only legally declared by the Convention held in that State in November last.

A most atrocious murder, or series of murders, was committed in the lower suburbs of Philadelphia on Saturday last, though not brought to light until yesterday morning. A German, as is supposed, living in the family of a Mr. DEHRING, succeeded in murdering in cold blood every member of it, numbering seven persons—the father and mother, with four children, one an infant, and a niece. One child, who was absent on a visit, escaped the terrible fate. The murderer had not, at last accounts, been arrested.

A raid was made on the jail in Pittsfield, Pike County, Ill., last week, by a number of men at midnight, scaling the walls and making a hole in the roof to let themselves in; then, breaking through another ceiling, they reached the upper tier of cells, where they inquired of the prisoners for a prisoner named EVANS, under indictment for murder, but he had been taken away to Brown County. They were very angry at their failure to release him. They released and took away with them three other prisoners, and left for parts unknown without being discovered.

At a recent meeting of the Directors of the Paterson and Newark Railroad, it was resolved to begin operations on the 15th instant. The profile of the route has been completed, and the work will probably be commenced at the Newark end on the appointed day, and finished as far as Franklin as soon as possible. Negotiations are now said to be pending with the New-Jersey Railroad Company to have them construct the last mile of the road from the depot in Newark to the East Newark side of the river.

The mail facilities in Virginia are rapidly improving. The Government Agent reports that contractors are performing the service with fidelity, punctuality and cheerfulness, Post-offices are well attended, and the patriotic women who have taken the oath and assumed the duties of Postmistresses seem determined to prove themselves as efficient therein as the sterner sex.

The Directors of the Charleston and Savannah Railroad have held a meeting and declared their corporation insolvent. The total indebtedness of the road is more than $2,200,000; while the value of the whole road, with the depots, rolling stock, &c., is only $1,365,000. Nearly half a million dollars is required to put the road in repair.

It is calculated from data deemed reliable, that in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, the number of negroes at work is about one-third of that in 1860, while there are now twice as many white laborers as then. In those districts where white labor has heretofore been used, there will be tolerably full crops of everything.

OSCAR MANKIN, one of the Alexandria rioters, who was to have been tried shortly on the charge of murder, has escaped from the Alexandria jail, in consequence of the negligence of a prominent officer. Great efforts are being made for his apprehension.

A Board of Trade has been organized in Charleston, S. C. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, and the following officers were elected: President, W. S. HASTIE; Vice-President, E. WILLS; Secretary and Treasurer, JOHN B. STEELE.

About forty-five barrels of the new crop resin, classing as No. 1, was received in Charleston on Thursday, April 5, from Society Hill, by the Northeastern Railroad. It is the first shipment of the season.

Preparations are being made at various points throughout the South to observe the 26th of April as an anniversary in honor of the rebel dead.

Capt. R. B. WINDER, for some months imprisoned at Richmond, was released yesterday by orders from Washington.

Friday last was observed generally throughout Georgia as a day of fasting and prayer for the restoration of prosperity.

The Wisconsin Legislature has passed resolutions severely censuring Senator DOOLITTLE for voting against the Civil Rights Bill.

Gov. OGLESBY, of Illinois, has named April 15 as a day of humiliation, fasting and prayer.

EDWARD W. GREEN, the Malden murderer, is to be executed on Friday next.

A murder occurred in Albany yesterday, arising out of a fierce political discussion.

LOCAL NEWS.

A strike occurred yesterday among the drivers of the cars on the Third and Sixth-avenue railroads. They demanded that their wages be increased from two dollars per day to two dollars and fifty cents, which was refused by the Directors of these roads. The drivers left their work, and from nine o'clock until five no cars were run on these lines, or at least only an occasional one. The Third-avenue strikers finally gave way and returned to their places at the old prices, and it is expected that the Sixth-avenue drivers will follow their example this morning. Great inconvenience to the traveling public was thus occasioned for a few hours, but as all other car and stage lines put on additional accommodation, the result was less serious than might have been anticipated.

In the Court of General Sessions yesterday, LAURA BROWN, charged with grand larceny, was tried and acquitted; WM. H. ANDREWS pleaded guilty of an attempt at burglary in the third degree, and was sentenced to State Prison for two years and six months; DANIEL MCGREGOR pleaded guilty of grand larceny, and was sent to State Prison for one year; JACOB GOODKIND pleaded guilty of an attempt at grand larceny, and was remanded for sentence; THOMAS TILTIN, 75 years of age, pleaded guilty to obtaining goods under false pretences, and was discharged, judgment being suspended; PETER DOWNING was tried on an indictment for burglary in the first degree, and the Jury disagreeing, the prisoner was remanded.

Washington Market found its way into Police Trials, yesterday, before Commissioners ACTON and BERGEN, a woman having had her pocket picked in the narrow passage which the marketmen suffer the public to use as a kind of sidewalk through the market on West-street. The complainant in the case accused two Third Precinct officers of attempting to compound a felony, but the charge was not sustained. On the contrary, Capt. GREER showed that his men had sent the pickpocket to State Prison. Another trial involved the right of cartmen to stand on the City railway-tracks, and it was shown that they have no right to detain a car more than five minutes.

From fifty to seventy-five beggars and vagrants have been arrested every day by the Fifteenth and Twenty-ninth Precincts police, in pursuance of the recent order to that effect from Police Headquarters. The order is being obeyed by the entire police with great promptness, and the beggars are rapidly becoming scarce in our streets and thoroughfares.

United States Commissioner BETTS, yesterday, committed ROBERT D. PARKER, JOHN LYON, CHARLES PATTERSON and PETER FLOOD, to await the action of the Grand Jury, on a charge of mutiny on board the bark Harriet, on her way from Liverpool to New-York.

Mr. THOMAS DOWNING, the well-known colored caterer, died at his residence in this city on Tuesday. The funeral will take place on Friday next, at 1:30 P. M. at St. Philip's Church in Mulberry-street.

The body of an unknown man was found floating in the North River at the foot of Cortlandt-street. Deceased was about 60 years of age. The body had been in the water but a few hours.

MARY ANN BATTY, who was severely burned by the explosion of a kerosene oil-can, on Tuesday, died yesterday morning from the effects of the injuries she received. An inquest was held by Coroner GAMBLE.

JOHN GALVIN, residing at No. 252 10th-avenue, was arrested yesterday on a charge of having fired two shots at Officer ACKERSON, of the Twentieth Precinct, about 1 o'clock yesterday morning. He was held to bail to answer the charge by Justice DODGE.

MICHAEL GEARY, the billiardist, was arraigned yesterday before Justice DOWLING, on a charge of assault and battery preferred against him by BENJAMIN CARNO, the billiard reporter of Wilkes' Spirit. GEARY was held to bail to answer the charge.

The leading kinds of produce were in more demand yesterday, especially breadstuffs and cotton, which closed buoyantly. Merchandise was quiet and depressed. The freight market was decidedly heavy, with 571 vessels of all classes in port.

The Worst Enemies of the South.

Strongly as we have felt constrained to censure the course of the Stevenses of Congress toward the South, we apprehend that the mischief they have actually done is less than that arising from the counsels and conduct of those who claim to be its peculiar friends.

It has been so from the beginning. WENDELL PHILLIPS and GARRISON might have agitated against Slavery with a force they never attained to, and yet there would have been no rebellion and no war. Without direct encouragement from the North, there had been no secession. And this encouragement was given by loud-tongued Democrats, who led Southern leaders to believe, first, that the Democratic Party in the North, as a party, accepted the State rights doctrine of CALHOUN; and second, that the party were resolved and able to prevent a military extinguishment of secession. Morally, then, a considerable body of the Democrats were as guilty as the most prominent of the rebels—not only as instigators of the rebellion, but as its aiders and abettors throughout. Lacking courage to face actual danger on the battle-field, they nevertheless succeeded in misleading the Southern people as to the current of Northern opinion and the duration of Northern resources. There were honorable exceptions, of course. There were "War Democrats" whose devotion to the Union and efficiency in its service will live in the brightest pages of our national history. But the "Copperhead" species will in due time be classed by the South among its worst enemies, as fomenters of the rebellion and the source of some of its most terrible penalties.

The same remark applies to the period that has elapsed since the close of the war. Self-constituted champions of the South have exerted themselves—not to allay irritation, not to obliterate misunderstandings and antipathies, not to restore national harmony with a frank recognition of the results achieved by the sword, but to keep alive a sense of wrong, to stimulate demands which the Southern people, left to themselves, would not have made, and to encourage expectations that can lead only to disappointment. In the mass of testimony that has been obtained from the States recently in rebellion, one of the points most clearly established is, that immediately after the cessation of hostilities there was a universal readiness to acquiesce in whatever terms the Federal Government might have dictated. A change has since occurred. A feeling of honest loyalty has gained ground sufficient to justify the action of the President, and to call for friendly action by Congress. But the lessons inculcated by journals like the Daily News and the World are operating prejudicially upon the temper of a portion of the people, who are led to talk of conditions which will not be granted, and to indulge in exhibitions gratifying to none but Mr. THADDEUS STEVENS and his friends.

Take the present course of the newspapers we have named, as a fair indication of the pernicious influence they have labored to exercise since the conclusion of the war. It is entirely consistent with all they have done for months past, and in our judgment warrants us in stigmatizing them as inimical to the true interests of the Southern people.

Both journals profess to be delighted at the conduct of the President. They affect for him admiration and friendship. They call upon the South to applaud and sustain him. But let us see what their applause amounts to, and for what purpose they would have him zealously supported.

The Civil Rights Bill has become law, and the obvious duty of the President now is to enforce it. That he will do so, judiciously and faithfully, we are confident, leaving the question of constitutionality to be tested in due time in the Supreme Court. All his antecedents prove this. The care with which he judges of the action of Congress according to the letter and spirit of the Constitution, is a guarantee of the scrupulous fidelity with which he will discharge his duty as an administrator of the law. The World, however, is endeavoring to persuade the President that he may not, and should not, enforce the Civil Rights Bill; and the Southern people that he will not enforce it.

The reasoning through which the World arrives at these conclusions, we need not stop to criticise in detail. Divested of the dogmatism which our cotemporary evidently supposes to be power, of the tinsel which it mistakes for rhetoric, and the Latin phrases which form its evidence of learning, the argument of our cotemporary amounts simply to a revival in another shape of the old heresy of nullification. It lies in a nutshell. The President (the World argues) is entitled to his own opinion as to the constitutionality of a law duly enacted by Congress; and what he deems unconstitutional he is at liberty practically to nullify. Therefore, on the same authority, ANDREW JOHNSON, having in his veto message maintained that certain provisions of the Civil Rights Bill conflict with the Constitution, is bound to permit that law to remain a dead letter. In other words, the President is to usurp the province of the Supreme Court, to prove his respect for the Constitution by violating it, and his regard for law by placing himself above it. For this advice the World does not pretend to have the sanction of the organic law to which, when occasion suits, it appeals with a wondrous parade of patriotism. As certain religionists, in the heat of controversy, display more reverence for a pet commentator than for the Bible, so the World, in in its eagerness to inculcate the doctrine of nullification, seeks succor in the sayings of JEFFERSON rather than the terms of the Constitution.

We have not the slightest fear that the teaching of the World upon this subject will have any effect upon the mind of the President, unless it be to convince him more deeply than ever of the folly and danger of looking to this class of Democratic journals for advice or assistance. But the design remains the same. And so far as the World has influence in the South, the views it urges upon the President cannot but be mischievous.

The Daily News is equally insulting to the President, and yet bolder in its efforts to bring about revolution.

That the South is to-day excluded from Congress is not the fault of the President or of those who sustain his policy. He has urged its right to representation, and those who act with him in Congress are prepared to support his recommendation to the extent of their power. This covers, however, only the general right; the eligibility of individual members remaining to be considered and acted upon according to their respective merits. But the Daily News will not endure further delay, nor will it submit to any test excluding members on account of their participation in the rebellion. The President asks that none but loyal men shall be admitted; but the Daily News, while pretending to be his friend and supporter, demands the abrogation of all conditions save the single one of election.

How does the Daily News, then, propose to adjust the difficulty? It recommends usurpation and revolution! It tells the Southern members to walk into the Capitol and take possession of the vacant seats. And should an attempt be made to expel them, it advises the President to employ the soldiers under his command to enforce the claims of the Southern members at the point of the bayonet, and to compel the majority in Congress to yield to his will. In other words, the Daily News, having helped to ruin the South by upholding one rebellion, is anxious to help the South by reviving the bloody and disastrous conflict!

Said we not truly, that at this moment the worst enemies of the South and its people are the Northern journals, which pretend to have taken both under their special charge?

The British Reform Bill---An Appeal to the People.

Deserted by a faction of so-called Liberals, who crept into Parliament for Whig burghs, under ministerial patronage at the last General Election, Lord RUSSELL proposes taking the bold step of a new appeal to the country, if his Reform bill should be defeated. The only obstacle to such an appeal, since the present Parliament is but a few months old, would be the Sovereign's withdrawing her consent. But no one on either side in this party-conflict supposes for a moment that such an obstacle would present itself. If Lord RUSSELL had been Premier at the time of the late General Election, or even if the ministerial programme had, then, included a measure of Parliamentary reform, the constitutional right of Lord RUSSELL to advise the Queen to dissolve Parliament might have been doubted. As it is, Lord RUSSELL's Ministry was not in existence at the time when the people were appealed to, and Lord PALMERSTON was careful that his Government should not be committed at all on the question of Reform.

Under the British system, therefore, the Queen will only conform to constitutional usage in accepting any advice from Lord RUSSELL which will give the people the power of pronouncing upon the worthiness of his administration, and the character of the great measures submitted to Parliament. In similar circumstances thirty-five years ago, the Sovereign was for a time the mainstay of the reactionary party by refusing to permit a dissolution. The Queen's political training has been in a different school from that of her Uncle. And whatever she can do constitutionally to aid her Liberal advisers, there is no doubt she will do, readily and cheerfully. Meanwhile, the mere threat of a dissolution is likely to bring some of the recalcitrant Whigs to their senses before the day fixed for the second reading of the bill.

The Imminence of a European War—Late Reports.

We have news this morning from Europe to the 1st inst., which would seem to be portentous of an actual rupture between the despoilers of Denmark. It has been apparent for some time that Austria was carefully measuring her resources and moving large masses of troops as rapidly as possible from one part of the Empire to another.

Provisions and stores and ammunition are being accumulated, and horses bought, and the artillery put in order, as if for an important campaign, close at hand.

A portion of the garrison of Pesth has been removed to Bohemia, where civil war is just ready to break out—Hungary being considered as perfectly peaceful and secure. The Viennese journals are forbidden to report on the movements of troops. In the Austrian press there is a very bitter tone of exasperation against Prussia and a certain eagerness for the conflict. Saxony, too, is reported to be arming. Prussia, as usual, is slow to take up the glove which her old antagonist is throwing down. But her army is fast being put on a war footing, the fortresses of Silesia are being prepared for any sudden onset, and the railroads are ordered to be ready to transport war materials. Prince FREDERICK CHARLES, it is expected, will be appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Prussian armies. An important rumor is in circulation, that VICTOR EMANUEL, in case of a war between Austria and Prussia, has decided to station heavy forces near the Po, to coöperate with Prussia by an attack on the rear of the Empire, and to capture, if, possible, the long wished-for prize of Venice. The struggle between Austria and Prussia is nominally for control in the Duchies, but really for supremacy in Germany. It is the old struggle of FREDERICK the Great renewed in the middle of the nineteenth century.

The conflict of interests and the bitterness of feeling have been continually increasing for the last twenty years. There would have been war long ago had Prussia shown anything like the spirit of her rival, or had Austria felt secure at home. The effort of the Prussian Monarchy is undoubtedly to aggrandize itself, especially by obtaining outlets to the sea. In attempting this, she has lost much of the good will of the smaller German States, and has attracted the opposition (though only expressed in words) of France and England. Austria has for some years been, so to speak, stripping herself for the contest. Her statesmen have labored indefatigably to arrange and improve her finances; Hungary has been partially pacified; the Revolutionary Party quieted; great military railroads have been built which will connect different parts of the Empire with one another, and production has been fostered and increased.

Austria has not stood so little impeded for the battle, for many years. She is strong, too, in the confidence and respect of Germany, and in her vast and long-tried military power. Prussia is also powerful, and showed in the recent Danish war how well she had kept pace with the progress of the age in military improvements. But she has not at all the military resources of the Austrian Empire, and lies exposed to many enemies. The position of her Government also is weak with the masses of her people, and she has not the confidence of Germany.

Though matters look so threateningly, it is possible that actual hostilities may not ensue. Despite the great apparent power of Austria, there are elements of weakness within her borders which must restrain her from a long and expensive struggle. Her finances are desperately disordered. Hungary is always uncertain until the demands of the Liberal Party are fairly gratified; Bohemia is fermenting; Venice is sullen and discontented, and the Italian counties of Tyrol are disaffected, while the Italian King is watching continually for his opportunity to strike; the Principalities are in revolution, and Russia is waiting for her chance to gain possession of the Danube and revenge Sebastopol. So far is this last the probable contingency that many European journalists profess to believe that the Austrian armaments are all directed against Russia and her designs on the eastern frontier of the Empire.

Then, with Prussia, is the danger of France taking advantage of the confusion to annex the Rhine Provinces, and of all Germany siding with Austria, while a war would seriously drain the kingdom of its resources.

Still, the passions of men often blind them to their true interests, and Europe may now be on the verge of a long and desolating struggle. And poor, despoiled Denmark may have her revenge much sooner than her cold-blooded neighbors could have dreamed of.

THE CAR-DRIVER'S STRIKE.—The drivers on the Third and Sixth-avenue Railroads resorted yesterday to the ill-advised proceeding of a strike, and, as was perhaps to be expected, the proprietors at once commenced endeavoring to supply their places—the drivers in the end giving in. The action of both parties in the contest is much to be regretted. In the first place the public are inconvenienced to an intolerable extent. There ought never to be an interruption in the means of passing between up and down town, and the holders of the very valuable railway franchises of this City ought to provide against such interruptions. Then, we are sorry to see that wealthy corporations refuse to pay to men whose hours of labor are long, and whose duties involve exposure in all weathers, from the frosty terrors of Winter to the burning terrors of the Summer solstice, wages which will insure a comfortable subsistence—and two dollars a day in these times cannot insure such except in the case of single men. Moreover, the recent police records of the City prove that trustworthy and law-abiding men are needed on the rail-cars as a protection from ruffians and thieves. Men of the desired character are worth more than this two dollars a day. Further, the railroad companies can afford to be liberal. Their profits are—well, what would their stockholders sell out for, if they would sell at all? And finally, the drivers ask for more pay because of a wicked and grinding oppression to which they, in common with the laboring poor of New-York, are subjected at the hands of owners of tenement houses. The public have no idea of the extent of this oppression, or what misery it creates. We may have more to say of it at another time; what we would urge now in the case at issue is that these car-drivers do not seek to make money—they have no chance of that. But they are simply forced to collect from their employers the landlord's tax, just as their employers collected from the public the revenue tax in support of the Government.

We would add a word on strikes. There is no hope of their success, of themselves alone. They only scatter men in new directions and break up old associations and modes of obtaining a livelihood. If there is a clear case of justice on the part of the strikers they may prevail, but even then only if the employers' sense of justice is clear and uncorrupted. There are, alas, in great cities too many eager to accept a mere pittance to keep body and soul together; there are others who will accept a pittance for the sake of a field for robbery. Against both these classes the car-drivers have to contend. We trust that they will not be rash—we also trust that their employers will temper their ideas of the law of supply and demand with a little mercy toward their fellow-men.

A LANDLORDS' SCARE.—We have all along asserted, and property owners have denied, that the short supply of house accommodation did not justify the enormous increase of rents demanded this Spring. Our anticipations of the final results of the action of landlords begin to be justified. Not only have rents fallen below the figures of a month ago, but there are now a great number of houses to let. This was to be expected, and we are glad of it. The whole business of creating a scare among the purchasers of any article of human need, whether of shelter or food or clothing, is a very base and paltry one, and deserves to recoil on the heads of the interested alarmists. People cannot pay half their incomes for house accommodation, and in many cases will not if they could. They adopt the inevitable course—either they give up housekeeping altogether and go to boarding, or they give up their houses and take to apartments. Either plan involves a just retribution upon the owners. And why should it not? This City is a crowded city of course, but not more so than two years ago; while in the suburbs many new residences have been built, and many more are in process of building. If the owners of New-York property wished to depreciate that property in the long run, they could not have taken a quicker method of doing so than by forcing an indignant public to look for homes in lodgings or out of town. Meanwhile, there are yet a few more days before First-of-May movers need be anxious. Every day's delay in agreeing to terms will tend to render those terms more easy.

THE CRUELTY TO ANIMALS BILL.—The bill for the prevention of cruelty to animals has at length passed both branches of the State Legislature, and will speedily become a law. This action is late in the day, but not the less welcome. In the first notice of the necessity for some action on the subject, and which appeared in these columns, we spoke of the advantage to be gained from the formation of a society upon the London plan; the bill now just passed will be valuable in a still greater degree, but need not interfere with, but might rather aid such a society. A corps of inspectors under the bill is one good thing, but inspectors employed by an independent society is also of great service, in respect of finding out and reporting acts of cruelty, and calling in the aid of the Police. We trust that the disgusting spectacle which may be seen at the lower end of Barclay-street, (to name one of many localities,) of calves with their legs tied together and lying panting on the stoop of a produce warehouse, or the not less horrible sight of a wagon-load of tied live animals piled upon each other, such as our Hoboken readers witnessed in the ferry-yard yesterday, may be numbered as things of the past, and only to be remembered with shame.

THE TROUBLES OF MAXIMILIAN.—The news from Mexico of late has been exceedingly flat. But for the enlivenment given to affairs by a fight with banditti now and then, here and there, we should hardly have an item of history. It is now evident to all that the Republicans have given up all hope of effecting anything whatever by military effort. MAXIMILIAN's troops, however, have not a little trouble with the guerrillas, and the lives of prominent Mexicans, who have given in their adhesion to the Empire are everywhere unsafe. In addition to this, MAXIMILIAN can find no mode of relief from his financial troubles; indeed they seem to be getting more hopeless continually; and as French capitalists are getting altogether disgusted with Mexican loans, as the French people have long been with Mexican expeditions, there would appear to be nothing but bankruptcy in prospect. It is believed that MAXIMILIAN himself is getting rather weary of the task of regenerating Mexico. He has worked very hard for two years, on a salary that must be called a very shabby one, as the salaries of Emperors go; and as he, or at all events his wife, has come into possession of quite an imperial fortune by the death of old King LEOPOLD, it need not be wondered that he is anxious to get back again to the brilliant society of Europe.

FENIANA.—The telegraphers for the Fenians, who are sending us rather exciting news from the eastern coast of Maine, forwarded to the Press last night a dispatch from Eastport that a number of Fenians had just left that place on a sailing vessel, secretly—As if the profoundly secret news were not sufficiently proclaimed by this telegraphic announcement, a second dispatch was soon after sent over the wires repeating and reaffirming the statement. As the news appears to have been anything but secret in Eastport, and as it was doubtless equally well known in the British territory adjacent, and by the commanders of the British steamers which are reported to be cruising all over the Bay of Fundy, we fear that the members of this secret expedition will get themselves into trouble. We suppose that after proclaiming their departure all over this country, the expedition took a sailing vessel for the voyage, in order that everybody in Nova Scotia and New-Brunswick might have time and opportunity to learn of their projected visit in good season. This method of getting up secret belligerent expeditions has unquestionably its advantages over less Hibernian methods. It gives all parties all round fair warning as to what's in the wind, and if, after this, anybody should be taken by surprise, why it is certainly not the fault of the Fenians.

THE CHOLERA.—We hear that among the less-informed classes of the City, the announcement that cholera was on board the steamer England, off Halifax, has been transmogrified into the most fearful shapes. They have had the epidemic located in town, and not a few deaths from other maladies during the last few days, have been attributed to the cholera. We are sorry that in one case a Coroner's jury gave countenance to fears which subsequent investigation quickly proved to be unfounded. There has been such a general anticipation for months past that we should have the cholera among us this Spring, that everybody is now on the sharpest kind of an outlook for it. So far as this tends to active effort in the way of improving the sanitary state of the City, it must result in benefit. But bad sanitary conditions do not offer more attractions to the cholera than mental perturbation and fears. Among the other Parisian styles which we are always so ready to imitate here, it would be well if New-York could be as self-possessed in presence of the cholera as Paris was a few months ago, while the disease was in that capital.

TOO FAST.—We find nominations for the next Presidency in several scores of our cotemporaries. They take a pretty wide range, extending from Gen. GRANT, who has not a few newspaper backers already in the North, to Professor LEE, who is regarded as the fittest man by one or two Southern newspapers. We have to labor ceaselessly, and in innumerable directions, in the way of attempting to modify the excessively fast fancies of a portion of our people. And we would advise them not to get excited over this matter, for at least a year yet. It has been remarked a thousand times how small are the actual chances of those who are spoken of and urged years in advance of the time of nomination. Not a few of the papers and politicians that are hotly advocating GRANT's claims now, will probably find some cause or other for changing their course before a year passes away; and those who are eager for his election, or the election of any other man, had better reserve their forces until the time when they will be of avail.

ASH AND GARBAGE BOXES.—We recall a suggestion, made in these columns some months ago, that owners of tenement-houses be required to provide a garbage box for each house, for the use of all the tenants therein. The notion is a good one; can it not be carried into effect? There would then be no excuse for throwing refuse into the street.

Sale of Paintings—An Admirable Rule of Trade—Protection Against Fraud.

Last evening the balance of the collection of Dutch and Flemish paintings lately on exhibition at the Somerville Art Gallery was disposed of at good prices considering the frequency of sales during the past Winter. Before opening the sale Mr. MINER announced it as the purpose of their house to follow religiously the practice hitherto governing their sales; to thoroughly investigate, themselves, the right of each picture to bear the name attached to it on the canvas and in the catalogue, and further, to guarantee their patrons against all possibility of deception, they propose to allow three months to elapse after purchase, for investigation, if necessary, on the part of the buyer, during which time should any doubts he may have had, as to the genuineness of the painting, be confirmed, his money will be returned to him with ten per cent. interest added. This communication was well received by the crowd of buyers who were doubtless well pleased to find themselves thus protected.

The bidding throughout was spirited, resulting in a successful sale. Among other pictures knocked down at good prices were a KRUSEMAN at $210; a Scene in the Highlands, by MORRIS, at $225; Skating Match, VON SEBEN, $165; a little landscape by KOEK KOEK, at $180; two marine views by MUSON, at $260 each; Lake of Luzerne, by BUETTER, $255; the Marriage Contract, by STROEBEL, $250; Stable Interior, by LOUIS ROBBE, of Brussels, $740. The balance of the collection ranged from $50 to $400.

INSURANCE.—We call attention to the advertisement, in another column, of the Perpetual Policy System of the Metropolitan Insurance Company.

RAISING THE OLD FLAG OVER FORT SUMTER.—The Sumter Club will hold their first anniversary, and celebrate the event of raising the Stars and Stripes over Fort Sumter by a dinner at the Mansion House, Brooklyn, on Saturday evening, April 14. A large number of distinguished persons from Washington and other parts of the country will be present.

Expiration of the One Hundred Days—Defeat of Another New-York Railroad Project—Loss of the Bill Allowing Husband and Wife to Testify For or Against Each Other in the Courts—Final Passage of the Oneida Lake Canal Bill—Conflict Between Buffalo and Oswego on the Niagara Ship Canal Bill—Prospects of New-York City Railroads.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 11, 1866.

The one hundred days during which members of the Legislature are allowed to draw $3 per diem expire to-day, and the balance of the session must be carried on at the expense of the honorable members—or the lobby, which latter body, by the way, is exceedingly large and savagely clamorous as time passes. The House has pretty nearly disposed of its business, but the Senate is far behind. That dignified body has frittered away so much time in useless debate on National policy and other questions; it has so persistently adjourned from Friday to Monday night, thus losing nearly two days of valuable time every week, that the interests of the public must suffer in consequence, and a large number of bills of importance to various people, which the Assembly has considered and passed, will fail in the upper House for want of time.

In the House, this morning, the bill to authorize the construction of certain railroads between South Ferry and Fifty-ninth-street, came up on its third reading. New-Yorkers will recollect that this is a project to allow a corporation to purchase the buildings on certain streets, to build an elevated, a surface and an underground railroad. The upper stories of the buildings are to be used for storage of merchandise and produce, the bill giving the corporation the powers of warehousemen.

Mr. CURTIS, of New-York, moved to recommit the bill to the Committee of the Whole, and appealed to the House to prevent the "double damnation of such legislation."

Mr. BRANDRETH, of Westchester, opposed the motion, and insisted that the bill was perfectly fair, and would promote the interests of New-York City.

The question was taken on the motion of Mr. CURTIS, and it was carried by a vote of 54 to 28. This is in effect killing the bill, as there will scarcely be time during the session to consider it in Committee of the Whole, and get it through the city.

The bill to allow husband and wife to testify for and against each other in civil actions the same as other witnesses, except as to confidential disclosures, after a somewhat lengthy debate by Messrs. COCHRANE, of Albany, and HISCOCK, of Onondaga, in favor of the bill, and Mr. BURDETT, of Otsego, in opposition, was lost on its third reading by a vote of 42 to 62. This bill has passed the Senate twice within two years, only to be defeated in the Assembly. It has been urged with great pertinacity and ability by the Magnus Apollo of the Senate, Mr. FOLGER, who for two years has succeeded in getting it through the Senate only to behold it remorselessly slaughtered down stairs.

The bill to secure navigation on the Oneida Lake Canal passed the Assembly this morning by a vote of 73 to 21. This canal has been practically abandoned for four years past, although as much a part of the public works as the Erie Canal, in consequence of a controversy between the Auditor and the Canal Commissioners. The Legislature passed an act directing the enlargement of the locks on this canal, under which the Commissioner let the work to contractors. The old locks were torn out, and the canal rendered unfit for navigation, when the work was supended because the Auditor considered the law defective in making the appropriation, and refused to pay the contractors. Hence the canal has been useless, and the people who have made investments in lands and manufactories on the banks of Oneida Lake, in the faith that the State would maintain its canal on which they depended to get their produce and merchandise to market, have petitioned loudly for the passage of the bill. It having previously passed the Senate, it will become a law when signed by the Governor.

A large number of Buffalonians are in the City to remonstrate against the passage of the Niagara Ship Canal bill by the Senate. Hon. E. S. PROSSER, A. M. CLAPP, Esq., and others, will argue the subject before the Senate Committee of Commerce and Navigation this evening. Mr. LITTLEJOHN and other Oswegonians will speak in favor of the bill.

Senator PLATT, a member of the Railroad Committee, last evening presented a large number of petitions of property owners in Broadway, praying for the passage of the Underground Railroad Bill. Messrs. STEWART and ASTOR are here, looking after Broadway interests in the matter of railroads.

There appears to be some prospect that the Surface Railroad Bill for Broadway will pass the Senate. The Underground Bill has many strong friends among Senators, and would probably go through the Senate if the Railroad Committee would consent to report either for or against the bill. That Committee, however, has had the bill in its hands (which passed the House by an almost unanimous vote) for some two or three weeks, the session is drawing to a close, and yet nothing can induce them to report. Apparently they do not dare to report adversely, and yet are unwilling to report favorably. The extraordinary conduct of the Committee is exciting universal comment in and out of the Senate, and members are not choice of words in referring to the motives for this singular refusal to do anything.

Animated Discussion in Committee on the Niagara Ship Canal and the Broadway Railroad.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 11.

This afternoon has been an exciting period in the history of the present Legislature. In the Court of Appeals room the Niagara Ship Canal was argued at much length, by Mr. LITTLEJOHN, in favor, and Lieut.-Gov. ALVORD, H. S. CUTTING and E. S. PROSSER, of Buffalo, in opposition. Mr. LITTLEJOHN contended that this was not a paltry question of canal revenues. It was not revenue that had made New-York, Albany, Troy, Syracuse, Buffalo and Oswego, but trade and commerce. He showed that the proposed canal would cheapen transportation five cents on each bushel of grain carried from Chicago to New-York—an amount almost equal to the entire tolls from Buffalo to Albany. The people of the great West were becoming clamorous that other avenues should be opened for their immense commerce, that they might seek the markets of the world, and if New-York would not heed this demand, Canada would surely build the Ottawa Canal, and then not a ton of Western produce destined for Europe would reach New-York.

Lieut.-Gov. ALVORD replied in a speech of much earnestness, arguing that it was the duty of the State to protect her own interests, and especially with regard to the revenues of her canals; that the proposed ship canal could only tend to the advantage of Canada; that it would be ruinous to Buffalo and Oswego, and would end in sending the produce of the West down the St. Lawrence River to the ocean, thus avoiding New-York altogether. Such a ship canal, if built at all, would be built with British gold, and would be under British influences. Our canals had never yet been taxed to their utmost capacity. When they were, the people would willingly consent to enlarge the locks so as to float boats of 600 tons, and still keep the vast Western trade in its present channels.

Messrs. CUTTING and PROSSER made able speeches against the bill, and then Mr. LITTLEJOHN rejoined in a powerful argument, which closed the debate. It is understood that the Committee will report the bill, and its friends count upon 18 or 19 votes in its favor, enough to pass it.

The Senate Chamber was filled to-night to overflowing, by New-Yorkers and others, drawn together by the hearing before the Railroad Committee on the New-York Railroads.

Col. VAN BUREN opened the argument by an earnest and eloquent speech in behalf of the Broadway Underground Railroad.

WM. H. RICHARDSON spoke briefly but effectively for the surface road, showing that the grant only continued for thirty years, and that five per cent. of the receipts went into the City Treasury.

WILLIAM WARD, of New-York, spoke at some length against the Broadway Surface Railroad.

A. T. STEWART said he had for fourteen years opposed these Broadway railroad bills. He was happy to find Mr. WARD, who had heretofore been an applicant for a grant, now opposed to the bill. It was an evidence of progress. Mr. STEWART urged that it was inexpedient to lay tracks in Broadway, and concluded by making an offer of $2,000,000 for the Broadway Surface grant, and $1,000,000 for the Crosstown road.

WILLIAM B. ASTOR indorsed all that STEWART had said.

Mr. STEWART, resuming, said he was opposed to all kinds of railroads, underground and all; he did not think the projectors of the latter road were actuated by a desire for the public interests, but by greed for gain. Above all things he regarded an elevated railroad as an absurdity, and worse than this it was as atrocious nuisance, not only an interference with the street but a monopoly of light and air.

BUTLER G. NOBLE followed in a speech for the elevated road. He was pointed and piquant, and convulsed the audience with laughter. He pitched into millionaires, who thought they owned Broadway, in most savage style. He declared that Broadway belonged to the people, and lashed his opponents with much vigor for attempting to stay the progress of the age.

Judge HILTON spoke against all the roads.

Col. VAN BUREN wanted to know if Mr. STEWART's offer was bona fide. He asked Judge HILTON, as a lawyer, whether a road could be put up at auction by the Legislature?

The Judge evaded the question.

Col. VANDENBURG made a ringing speech for the Underground road, going at some length into the engineering question, and displaying profound knowledge of the whole subject.

WM. WARD, said Mr. STEWART might as well offer $20,000,000, for there was no power under the Constitution or the laws to accept such an offer.

After further spicy arguments and sharp hits among the contending parties, the hour for the evening session of the Senate arrived, and the Committee adjourned, the Lieutenant-Governor ordering the chamber to be cleared.

The opinion generally expressed among disinterested spectators of this great railroad war is that the Underground came out with brightened prospects, and the probability is that both the Underground and the Surface grants will get through the Senate.

TERRIBLE CRIME IN PHILADELPHIA.

SEVEN PERSONS MURDERED IN ONE HOUSE.

A Laborer Kills his Employer and his Whole Family—Plunder thought to be the only Motive for the Crime—The Murders Committed last Saturday.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, April 11.

A terrible crime, in the lower section of the city, was discovered this afternoon. A family of seven persons had been murdered: CHRISTOPHER DEERING, his wife, niece and four children, on Mr. DEERING's farm, at Point House road and James Lane. It is supposed the murders were committed last Friday by a German laborer on the farm. The crime was discovered this afternoon, by finding the bodies of DEERING and his wife in the barn. One of the victims was a baby ten months old. Plunder seems to have been the sole object. Horses and cattle in the stable were found in a famishing condition.

SECOND DISPATCH.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, April 11.

The Ledger, in its account of the terrible tragedy, says the bodies of DEERING and niece were discovered in a barn, covered with hay, and the others in a corn-crib, similarly covered. It is supposed the murder was committed last Saturday by a man and boy who had been hired by Mr. DEERING, who had lived with his family for two months past. DEARING and his niece were from home on Saturday morning, and it is supposed his wife and children were murdered during his absence, and that he and his niece were killed on their return. The bodies presented a horrible appearance, having been fearfully mutilated with a knife and ax. Only one of the family is saved, a child aged ten years, who is on a visit to a distant relative.

THIRD DISPATCH.

DEARING was a cattle dealer, aged 38 years. Miss KEATING, his cousin, was aged 49. His four children ranged from fourteen months to eight years. His residence is located in the suburbs, about a mile and a half below the Navy-yard.

The murderer has not yet been captured.

The affair has produced a great sensation in the city.

Mayor MCMICHAEL has issued a proclamation offering $1,000 reward for the arrest of the murderer.

THE FENIANS.

Gathering of Troops near New-Brunswick.

TORONTO, Wednesday, April 11.

The examination of the Fenians arrested at Cornwall begins to-day. Hon. JOHN S. MCDONALD has been engaged for the defence.

The Globe this morning has the following:

"There is no longer any doubt that O'MAHONY is concentrating a force near the New-Brunswick frontier. This is clearly in violation of the neutrality laws of the United States, and the Washington authorities must speedily take action upon the subject. We are not anxious that the American Government should act hurriedly. In a free government time must be allowed for talk, and it is not well for any government to oppose a movement which commands a measure of public sympathy, without clear proof that the law is being broken. But marching armed men towards the frontier is an act of war, which the American Government must suppress, if they intend to do their duty towards their neighbors."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"La Favorita" attracted a good but not overflowing audience last evening. The performance exhibited Mme. POCH's fine dramatic powers, and the truly great quality of her voice. The lady has not had many chances this season, but the remembrances of her two efforts are entirely pleasant. Her voice and her style are alike large. Both, too, are fresh. We anticipate with pleasure the future successes of such a gifted artist.

To-night "Fra Diavolo" will be played at the Brooklyn Academy.

OBITUARY.

Thomas Downing.

The well-known colored caterer and oysterman, THOMAS DOWNING, died on Tuesday last, at his residence in this City.

The deceased was in the 75th year of his age, having been born in Accomac County, Va., in 1791. His mother, a slave, was a woman of great piety and much respected by her owners, the DOWNINGS. She and her husband were subsequently freed by Capt. DOWNING, and THOMAS was then sent to school studying under the same master as HENRY A. WISE. During the war of 1812, THOMAS, being then about 21 years of age, came North and joined the army. He subsequently went to Philadelphia and became a domestic servant. In 1819 he came to this City, and after setting up as a kalsominer, opened an oyster saloon and eating house in Broad-street, which soon became famed for the excellence of the viands to be procured there. Here he remained until a year or two ago, acquiring a large fortune, when he moved his establishment to the Merchants' Exchange.

During the great fire of 1835, Mr. DOWNING, by his presence of mind was the means of rendering essential service to his fellow citizens. The weather was so cold that the water thrown by the fire engines froze as it left the pipes, and the flames raged almost unchecked. Mr. DOWNING, in conjunction with the late Mr. GERARD HALLOCK of the Journal of Commerce, discovered some barrels of vinegar behind a fence. The heads of the barrels were speedily driven in and the vinegar successfully used to stay the progress of the flames.

Mr. DOWNING raised a large family of children, to whom he gave a liberal education, sending some of them to Europe for that purpose. Only two, GEORGE T., the eldest, and PETER W., the youngest, survive their father.

The deceased was connected with the higher degrees of Masonry, was an Odd Fellow, and for a great many years had been a vestryman of St. Philip's Protestant Episcopal Church. He took a prominent part in all measures for the elevation of the colored race, and lived an active and useful life.

His remains will be taken on Friday, the 13th inst., at 1 o'clock, from the residence of Rev. JOHN PETERSON, No. 1 Wooster-st., to St. Philip's (Episcopal) Church, Mulberry-street, between Houston and Bleecker streets, where the funeral services will be held.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

THE VERSATILITY OF SHAKESPEARE'S GENIUS.—CHARLES K. TUCKERMAN delivered a lecture before the Young Men's Christian Association, in Fifth-avenue, last evening, on "The Versatility of SHAKESPEARE's Genius," which was listened to by a goodly assemblage of ladies and gentlemen with marked attention. The lecture was a common sense production, in that the lecturer did not, like some of the modern magi, suggest wherein SHAKESPEARE might have done better, but contented himself with what all who heard him could not but regard as a masterly analysis of the writings of the great dramatist. It was one of that class of lectures which, except at long intervals, the people of this City do not have an opportunity to hear—presenting the minds of the hearers with treasures drawn from fountains free to all, and in such a style as to give an incentive to reading. More of this kind of lecturing among the people would multiply the numbers who read books, and of necessity would turn much pocket money from channels of vice to the purchase of beneficial and high-toned publications, and lead hosts of our young people from the haunts of iniquity and public disorder into the genial, peaceful and pure highway of literature. Mr. TUCKERMAN received a vote of thanks from the audience for his able lecture.

FOUND FLOATING IN THE NORTH RIVER.—The body of an unknown man was found yesterday morning floating in the North River, at the foot of Cortlandt-street. The deceased was apparently about 60 years of age, was 5 feet 7 inches in height, with gray hair and side whiskers. The body was dressed in a black cloth overcoat, black undercoat and vest, with light pants and Kossuth hat. The teeth from the upper jaw were missing. From the appearance of the body it could not have been but a few hours in the water. An inquest was held by Coroner WILDEY. The body has been placed on ice, to await identification. Information may be obtained at the Coroner's office, No. 4 Centre-street.

FATAL RESULT OF A KEROSENE OIL ACCIDENT.—An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner GAMBLE over the body of MARY ANN BATTY, at the house of JOHN K. MATTHEWS, on the corner of Avenue A and One Hundred and Twentieth-street. The fact of the deceased being seriously injured by the explosion of a kerosene oil can, was reported in yesterday's TIMES. It appeared from the evidence adduced on the inquest that the deceased was trying to light a fire, and to start it she poured a quantity of kerosene oil from the can, when it exploded, setting her clothes in flames. She had frequently been cautioned against such practices, with no effect. A verdict of accidental death was rendered by the Jury.

TESTIMONIAL LECTURE.—Last evening Rev. HENRY GILES' lecture on "The Compensations of War" was read at All Souls Church by F. S. NICHOLLS, Esq. The church was not as well filled as we had hoped to find it, knowing how numerous are the admirers and sympathizers of MR. GILES. The lecture, like everything given us by the distinguished lecturer, was of absorbing interest, logical and eloquent, and our only regret was that we missed the voice last night to which we have often listened with unmixed pleasure, and which we hope to hear again ere long.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

SUPPOSED POISONING OF A YOUNG GIRL.—A young girl named MARGARET MCCORMACK, about 13 years of age, residing with her parents at the corner of Meeker-avenue and Ewen-street, E. D., died at 5 o'clock yesterday morning under circumstances which lead to the belief that death was the result of poison, but in what manner administered is unknown, the girl stating that she did not know what was the matter with her when taken sick. It appears that she had been employed in a pencil factory, and on reaching her home from work about 5 o'clock on Tuesday evening complained of a pain in her chest. Cramps, purging and vomiting took place shortly afterward, and she continued in great agony until 5 o'clock yesterday morning, when she expired. Coroner SMITH will investigate the cause of death.

The pockets of several ladies were also picked at the Fulton ferry—a usual occurrence. The accused are not known as old offenders. They are to be examined before Justice CORNWELL on Tuesday next. On Tuesday evening last, five females were taken into custody on similar charges. All are held for a hearing.

THE ANNUAL PARADE OF THE SABBATH-SCHOOLS.—The usual parade of the Brooklyn Sunday-schools is to take place in May, as heretofore, notwithstanding an effort made to dispense with the children's holiday.

TO ADVERTISERS.

Having widened the columns of THE TRIBUNE, we are under the necessity of charging more per line for advertisements. In consideration of this, and the fact of the steadily growing circulation of THE TRIBUNE, we have decided to increase our rates to correspond with the increased length of the lines and with our increased circulation. Our advertising customers very well know that THE TRIBUNE circulates among the best classes of our citizens, those most likely to prove good customers; and we believe the past experience of advertisers who have availed themselves of THE TRIBUNE as a medium through which to reach customers, both in city and country, will warrant them in paying the small increase in our rates. Our new scale of prices will be:

DAILY TRIBUNE.

ORDINARY ADVERTISEMENTS, classified under different heads, 20 cents per line.

SPECIAL NOTICES, on fifth page, 30 cents per line.

BUSINESS NOTICES, 50 cents per line.

ITEM ADVERTISEMENTS, under head of "City News," 60 cents per line.

Business Notices will be inserted on the fourth page. This change we know will greatly please those who insert their notices under that head. The changing of Business Notices from the fifth to the fourth page will also add very much to the value of advertisements inserted under head of Special Notices, which will continue on the fifth page.

Book notices and literary items will appear on the second page, to be followed by the book advertisements. We believe that THE TRIBUNE has always been considered the very best medium in which publishers could advertise, and this arrangement will add even to its previous value.

Advertisers will see that by the changes in making up the paper their announcements will be presented more conspicuously to the reader. Friends, we have hitherto given you the worth of your money, and we shall continue to do so.

ADVERTISING—THE FRUITS OF IT IN THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

A few weeks since "The Manchester Land Company" inserted their advertisement in THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE, and in six other papers in this State and New-England. Under date of April 5, 1866, Mr. Brown writes to one of the editors of THE TRIBUNE as follows:

DEAR SIR: That advertisement has done wonders. I have received nearly a thousand letters from all the States from Maine to Iowa, inquiring about the Manchester lands, asking terms, requesting a pamphlet, &c., and nine-tenths of them commence with the words, or their equivalent: "Having seen your advertisement in THE TRIBUNE, and having also read Solon Robinson's descriptions of West Jersey, I write for further information."

The result of advertising in your paper has been so satisfactory, that I have concluded it the best economy to continue it in THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE, however large the expense, and discontinue it in all other papers.

LEWIS B. BROWN.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has a circulation larger than that of any other newspaper, and a large proportion of its subscribers take no other journal. The space in this sheet allotted to advertisements is necessarily limited, so that each has the advantage of being easily seen, and all are generally read with as much interest as news-matter. There is—as those who have tried it know—no advertising medium in the country so cheap, because there is none so profitable, to the advertiser. The paper circulates among the industrial and thrifty classes—the Farmers, Manufacturers, Merchants and Mechanics of the country—and is carefully read by their wives and daughters. It is safe to say that each advertisement in it is read every week by not less than half a million of the most intelligent of the people. He who makes his business, his merchandise or his manufactures known to this immense number, scattered all over the loyal States, cannot fail to do so to his own manifest and great advantage.

ORDINARY ADVERTISING—$1 a line each insertion.

ITEM—In the News Column—$1 50 a line each insertion.

NOTHING INSERTED FOR LESS THAN $5.

No less by the quarter or year.

PERPETUAL POLICIES.

METROPOLITAN INSURANCE COMPANY,
NOS. 108 AND 110 BROADWAY, NEW-YORK.

CASH CAPITAL	$1,000,000 00
ASSETS JAN. 1, 1866	$1,645,984 98

The Metropolitan Insurance Company, of New-York, being convinced of the great convenience and safety of the system of deposit insurance, so long and successfully practiced in Europe, and in some of the other States of the Union, has decided to adopt the same in its own business, whenever it may be desired by the party seeking insurance.

This mode of insurance will be confined to dwelling houses exclusively, and will be conducted on the following plan:

The assured is required, on the issuing of the policy, to deposit with the Company such sum as may be agreed on, not to exceed the aggregate of ten annual premiums, which remains as a permanent deposit so long as the property stands, and the party desires to continue the insurance. If the property be sold, it is provided that the insurance shall still hold good for sixty days longer, in order to give time to make the necessary change in the policy.

Whenever the assured shall elect to terminate the insurance, or the same shall be terminated by sale as above mentioned, the assured will be entitled to receive back the whole sum deposited, less five per cent, which, with the interest, constitutes the premium reserved by the Company.

The Company reserves to itself, as heretofore, the right to cancel any risk, on due notice, in which case the whole deposit, without any deduction, will be returned to the assured. This right can be waived by the Company when parties going abroad desire to be secure against change.

An example of the practical working of this system is here presented:

Mr. Smith has a house which he desires to insure for $5,000; the annual premium on that sum is $12 50, ten years' premium is $125; this sum, deposited with the Company, makes the insurance perpetual, without further payment of any kind.

When the property is sold, or the assured desires to abandon the insurance, he applies to the Company, and receives back $118 75 of the $125. If the Company elects to cancel, he receives his whole $125, and the bargain is at an end.

The advantage of this method of insuring, in the case of dwellings, where permanent security is especially desirable, rendering unnecessary the constant watchfulness now required, in order to prevent a policy from lapsing, at an unlucky moment, cannot fail to be perceived and appreciated here, even more than elsewhere. The immense amount of dwelling property in this City, forming, in many cases, the bulk of great estates, must find this system especially valuable for its permanency and safety.

When insurance must be renewed from year to year the best memories may sometimes fail, and the property on which families depend for their sole support may disappear in an hour—once made, insurance by deposit need never to be renewed again, except where circumstances call for its discontinuance.

It keeps alive without watching. Insurance by this method is obviously cheaper as well as more secure. Thus, $5,000 costs say $12 50 per annum, on a first-class dwelling; while on $125 (the amount to be deposited) the interest at 7 per cent. is but $8 75. If the risk runs in this way ten years, the Company gets $8 75 per annum for insuring $5,000, and at the end $6 25 more, being 5 per cent. retained when the deposit is reclaimed—making the average annual premium $9 37.

We have no doubt that as fast as this simple and convenient system becomes understood it will so fully commend itself to all insurers of dwellings that few will think of protecting them on any other plan.

Full explanations of the working of this plan, under every variety of circumstances, will be furnished on application to the Company.

THE LANDS.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Chancery Court for the First District for the Southern Chancery Division of the State of Alabama, in the case of Mrs. E. A. ELLISON, Executrix, vs. WILLIAM L. KENNEDY, surviving partner, for settlement, I shall cause to be sold at auction to the highest bidders, before the United States Custom-house in the City of Mobile, on MONDAY, the 30th day of April next, at 12 o'clock M., all the following-described lands, lying in the fork formed by the two branches of Fish River, in Baldwin County, Alabama, namely: 400 acres of Section 8, 160 acres of Section 10, Section 18, Section 17, 480 acres of Section 15, Section 14, Section 19, (being 37 Spanish claim,) Section 20, Section 21, Section 22, Section 23, 318 acres of Section 30, 600 acres of Section 29, 500 acres of Section 28, 220 acres of Section 31, 183 acres of Section 32, 175 acres of Section 33. Township 7 South, Range 3 East, and 109 55-100 acres in Township 6 South, Range 2 East, of the lands subjected to sale at St. Stephens, amounting to over 8,000 acres.

These lands are covered with the best timber for wood, lumber and tar, and furnish elegant grazing for stock, and the adjoining waters abound in fish and oysters, and lie between and extend to both the branches of Fish River. These branches are from three to four miles apart only, and both are navigable, so that vessels may be loaded from the banks. There are many excellent mill sites on both branches, to which timber may be directly floated. These lands are distant by water about 35 miles from Mobile, and about 170 or 180 from the great breadstuffs and provision market of New-Orleans. The navigation to both places is by inland, and is safe and to all places convenient. The location is perfectly healthy and convenient, and the water pure and good. It is about 7 miles by land from Point Clear, the most desirable watering-place on the coast, and persons can go from these lands in the morning to Mobile, attend to their business, and return thence by 3 o'clock P. M. the same evening. The lands will be sold in lots to suit purchasers. Terms, one-third cash, one-third in one, and the remaining one-third in two years, with notes for all but the cash payment, bearing interest from date and secured by mortgage on the lands.

THOUSANDS ARE TIMELY SAVED BY Dr. KENNEDY'S skillful and improved treatment.—Private diseases cured in the shortest possible time by Dr. KENNEDY & CO., No. 195 Elm-st., New-York, without the use of mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. KENNEDY, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. KENNEDY, No. 195 Elm-st. Call, send or write.

STEINWAY & SONS' GRAND, SQUARE AND UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES

Have taken thirty-two First Premiums Gold and Silver Medals, at the principal fairs held in this country within the last ten years, and in addition thereto they were awarded a First Prize Medal at the Great International Exhibition in London, 1862, in competition with 269 Pianos from all parts of the world.

That the great superiority of these instruments is now universally conceded is abundantly proven by the fact that Messrs. Steinway's "scales, improvements and peculiarities of construction" have been copied by the great majority of the manufacturers of both hemispheres (as closely as could be done without infringement of patent rights) and that their instruments are used by the most eminent pianists of Europe and America, who prefer them for their own public and private use, whenever accessible.

STEINWAY & SONS direct special attention to their PATENT AGRAFFE ARRANGEMENT, which, having been practically tested in all their Grand and highest priced Square Pianos, and admitted to be one of the greatest improvements of modern times, will hereafter be introduced in every piano manufactured by them without increase of cost to the purchaser, in order that all their patrons may reap its benefit.

STEINWAY & SONS' PIANOS are the only American instruments exported to Europe in large numbers, and used in European concert rooms.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

STRIKE OF CAR-DRIVERS.

They Complain that they were Deceived by their Committee—They Resume Work on the Third-Avenue Line at the Old Rates.

Yesterday morning the drivers of the street cars on the Third and Sixth avenue lines struck for an increase of wages. On the Third-avenue line the drivers have been paid two dollars per day for ordinary trips, and two dollars and twenty cents per day for running through trips to Harlem. On the Sixth-avenue line they were receiving two dollars per day. On Monday last a Committee of drivers waited upon Mr. ROBERT SQUIRES, President of the Third-avenue road, and demanded an increase of fifty cents per day in their pay. The Committee was informed that no action could be taken in regard to their demand until the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors in May next. Thereupon the Committee informed the President that unless the increase was granted the drivers would stop work at 9 o'clock Wednesday (yesterday) morning. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning Mr. SQUIRES informed the Committee that on his own responsibility he would increase the wages of the drivers twenty-five cents per day, provided they would not strike nor interrupt the business of the road—this increase to continue until the meeting of the Directors, at which time the demand of the drivers would be submitted to the Board for its action. The Committee did not notify the drivers of this proposition, but at 9 o'clock informed those coming from each way that the strike was to be made at once. Accordingly the drivers ran their cars into the building at the depot on Sixty-fifth-street, tied up their reins and quit work. Each succeeding car, as it arrived at the depot, was laid up in like manner, and in a very short time not a car was running on the Third-avenue line. The drivers, to the number of about 150, collected around the depot in an angry and excited crowd, vociferously demanding the increase in their pay. Mr. SQUIRES at once notified the Police Commissioners of the strike, informing them that there was a possibility of a riot ensuing, and asking police protection. Inspector LEONARD, with a force of about 100 policemen, was sent to the depot, effectually quieting any apprehensions of a riot that may have been felt. Efforts were made immediately by the managers of the road to keep their cars running. The Superintendent and one of the Directors finally each took a car and attempted to drive through to the City Hall, each being protected by a policeman. The Superintendent made his trip, but the Director, when only two blocks from the depot, was assaulted by friends of the drivers and compelled to run his car back to the starting-place. Some of the stablemen were subsequently put on the cars, and under the protection of the Police, succeeded in making through trips. It soon became noised among the drivers that they had not been fairly treated by their Committee, and they sought Mr. SQUIRES to learn the truth. From him they first learned of the proposition he had made to raise their pay twenty-five cents a day. This offer, they stated, would have been perfectly satisfactory to them, and they immediately offered to go to work at that price. Mr. SQUIRES told them that the offer was made to them in consideration of their not striking, but that as they had done so, and by their acts seriously interrupted the business of the road, he would not now give them any advance. He intimated his willingness to employ any of the drivers who chose to return to their places at the old wages. After some hesitation, and much consultation among themselves, the men came forward and registered their names, as signifying their willingness to accept the old rates. At 5 o'clock they had all come to terms, and the first car left the depot for the City Hall in charge of its accustomed driver, and was immediately followed by all the rest.

Thus ended the strike on the Third-avenue. The men lost a day's work, sacrificed the increase of pay offered them, and were glad to resume the situations for which there are so many applicants. Many of these drivers have been on the road for years, and the Company prefers retaining them to breaking in new hands. During the day there were many applicants for places as drivers, and little difficulty would have been experienced by the Company in running their cars had the disaffected drivers continued obstinate. This road runs 150 cars daily, and employs about 175 drivers, all of whom were engaged in the strike. The Sixth-avenue runs 60 cars, and employs about 75 drivers, all of whom quit work yesterday, and had not resumed up to a late hour last night. The interruption to travel on those lines was a great inconvenience during the day, forcing unwilling pedestrians to indulge in long and wearisome walks. As a consequence, all the other street-cars and stages were crowded to a most uncomfortable degree. It is understood that had the Third and Sixth avenue Directors yielded to the demand of the drivers, similar strikes would have occurred upon all the other lines in the City. Several meetings have been held by the drivers lately, and their action yesterday was the result. While the strike was in progress, Mr. HARVEY WOODS, Superintendent of the Second-avenue line, did his utmost to supply the deficiency in traveling accommodations, by placing upon that line every car at his disposal. Above Sixty-second-street several extra steam cars were called into requisition, and everything that had wheels was put on below that point. There was considerable excitement among the drivers on this line, and at one time it was reported that they also had struck. The rumor was without foundation in fact. The prompt attendance of the Police at the different points where the strikers congregated doubtless prevented a most serious disturbance.

The Spring Book Trade Sale.

The Spring Book Trade Sale, at the auction rooms of Messrs. LEAVITT, STREBEIGH & Co., No. 498 Broadway, came to a conclusion on Tuesday evening at six o'clock. This was the largest Spring sale but one ever held in the United States, and it was successful beyond the anticipations of all interested. The receipts amounted to over $200,000 in the aggregate. All the standard books brought fair prices; some of them, indeed, exceeding what would be charged on order by the publishing houses. The London invoices, of which the principal was BOHN'S, did very well, satisfying the agents of the various houses abundantly, and, of course, the auctioneers. The trashy books did not command very flattering prices, a fact complimentary to the discrimination of the country booksellers, as well as being a gratifying sign of the times as to the elevation of American tastes. The highest priced and scarcest works have all gone to Boston, Philadelphia and other educational centres, East and West. Although the books offered at this sale were numerous, the variety was remarkable, as the number of volumes of each work was very limited, and no duplicates were available.

Caricature Sale To-Night.

The sale of NAST'S caricatures by Messrs. MINER & SOMERVILLE, at the Academy of Music, takes place this evening. Tickets can be procured gratis at the Art Gallery, No. 845 Broadway. A large attendance is anticipated and a jolly time will ensue. We see it announced that a well-known humorist is to furnish a catalogue explanatory and suggestive of the pictures. It may be quite as fair to state that the fact was known to everybody but the well-known humorist, who last night at a late hour was busily cudgeling his brain for jokes.

LAW REPORTS.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Executors and Administrators—The Distinction Between their Duties and Trusts—May the Latter Resign while the Former Cannot?—Administration on the Estates of Non-Resident Intestates—Error of Probate—Can it be Taken Advantage of in a Collateral Action?—Equity—Heir—Bona-Fides.

Charles Comstock et al. plaintiffs in error vs. Jefferson Crawford, defendant in error.—In this case the plaintiffs in error brought an action of ejectment to oust the defendant of an undivided three-tenths of 680 acres of land, situate in Grant County, Wisconsin. They proved title on the trial (in the district for Wisconsin) as heirs-at-law of Matthias C. Comstock, who died in 1838, domiciled and resident in Illinois, and the possession of defendant, and offered proofs of other matters, which were rejected.

The defense involved the following state of facts: In 1838 M. C. Comstock died intestate, leaving property in Iowa County, in the Territory of Wisconsin. Subsequently Charles Comstock, a brother of deceased, also of Illinois, was appointed administrator by the Probate Judge of Iowa County, but being unable to attend to the business he resigned and returned the letters of administration without taking charge of the estate or entering upon the duties of the trust. With his resignation he sent a request to the Probate Judge that letters of administration de novo might be granted to his friend and brother-in-law, Edwin Ripley. Thereupon the resignation was accepted, and after due proceedings had in February, 1840, Ripley was appointed administrator, and all parties interested acquiesced in the appointment, and in his acts relative to the estate, for a period of about thirty years thereafter, when the present plaintiffs commenced this and sixty-six other suits, involving the same questions, and upon the same facts. The defendant in this action, and other defendants, claim title under and by virtue of the acts of the administrator, and through a sale of the estate by him for the purpose of paying the debts of deceased, under order of the Court. The defendant introduced the record of the appointment of Ripley, which showed that he gave the usual bond, with sureties, and filed the oath required by law; after which, certified letters of administration, in due form, under the seal of the Court, were introduced. The defendant also introduced and read in evidence an exemplification of the record of the Probate Court of Grant County, showing that Ripley had made it apparent to that Court on the 3d of April, 1845; that he was also administrator of the estate of deceased in Jo Davies' County, Illinois, where deceased resided, and also that he was the duly appointed administrator in Iowa County, in Wisconsin Territory. This exemplification also contains the petition to sell the real estate of deceased to pay his debts, and shows that the petition was duly considered by the Court and notice thereof given by publication in the Wisconsin Herald for the proper time; that subsequently license to sell was duly issued and the usual oath administered. The deeds of the administrator to the defendant's grantees, given in pursuance of the sale, duly recorded in the Register's office of Grant County, were also produced and read in evidence. No copy or record of the formal report of the sale (if any was made) could be found after the lapse of so many years, and upon this evidence the defendant rested his case.

Upon this record the Court gave judgment for the defendant, and the case now comes here, the plaintiffs in error contending that the appointment of a general administrator for the estate of a non-resident intestate was void. The act establishing Courts of Probate, under which the letters of administration were issued, only gave the Probate Judge issuing the letters jurisdiction to take probate of wills and grant letters of administration on the estates of persons domiciled or resident in Iowa County at the time of their decease. The administration on this estate belonged to the public administrator of the county, an officer appointed by the Governor and Council of the State, and who was present to perform his duties prescribed by law, and to execute the process, decrees and sentences of the Court. Parol evidence was admitted (which was error) to show that the intestate had goods and effects in the county; and that evidence confirmed the title of the public administrator. But the appointment of Ripley was illegal for another reason: Comstock was the administrator, and he could not resign unless enabled by the statute, which has been distinctly held in Sitzman vs. Pasquette (13 Wis., 291) and cases therein cited. The Court disregarded this rule, holding that an administrator could resign, while perhaps an executor could not, because the executor derives his power from the will, the administrator from the Probate Court. Blackstone, (2 Black., 507,) has stated this distinction; and it may be generally stated, after considering the cases cited by him, that an executor derives his appointment from the testator, his authority from the Court, and his duties are regulated by law, as modified by the will. An administrator derives his appointment from the Court, his power from the Court, and his duties are regulated by law. The nature of the trust is the same in both, so to give any validity to their acts, both need the authority of the Probate Court. Whatever of authority the executor may receive from the will, may be renounced before probate, and hence it would seem that the authority derived from the probate is that which is not susceptible of resignation. The admission of the record was error, because the Court had not jurisdiction of the heirs. The names, and residences, and ages of the heirs should have been specified. The amount and description of the goods and chattels, and a specific statement of the just debts of the deceased, were essential facts which were omitted in the representation to the Court, and which were to be shown before it could act. Nor were these facts sufficient to warrant a publication. Nor were these facts sufficient to warrant the issuing of a license. The record shows that Ripley filed a certificate, and that it appeared to the Court that it was necessary and proper that a license should issue, and due proof of the existence and amount of the debts; but the all-important fact that the goods and chattels belonging to the estate were insufficient to pay them, nowhere appears but in the license itself. The decree of sale is void for uncertainty. There was no judgment in rem; nothing to show that specific property had been affected; everything was left to the discretion of the administrator. This discretion should have been exercised by the Court. The necessary amount of property and its description was as much to be ascertained and defined by the judgment as the facts showing the necessity for a sale. The license introduced was not exemplified. It came from the hands of the administrator, and there was nothing to warrant its introduction. The law requires a record. The deeds are not evidence of their recitals, and unless the power which authorized the making of them has been fully executed, they are inadmissible for any purpose. The license, or power, was not executed, and had it been permitted, it would have been shown that it was abandoned in 1856 by all parties.

The defendant in error contends that the proceedings of the administrator, as shown in the record of the case, are sufficient in law to pass to the purchaser under the administrator's deed, the title to the premises of which the intestate died seized.

The heirs had every opportunity to contest the validity of the letters granted, of the application for a license, or of any matters connected therewith; but they did not do so. The Probate Court having jurisdiction of the subject matter, and acting within the scope of its authority, acted upon the letters, all parties interested having ample opportunity to object. The proceeding then became res adjudicata. The statute afforded opportunity for any party interested to appeal, and appeal is the only means by which errors or mistakes of the Probate Court can be inquired into or questioned. Such errors or mistakes, if any existed, cannot be inquired into or taken advantage of in this collateral action.

If the Probate Court of Grant County, upon the presentation of the letters of administration from the Probate Court of Iowa County and such other evidence as the Court required, whether written or oral, and which the law did not require the Court to record, or to preserve in any way, exercised its jurisdiction improvidently, or in a manner not warranted by the evidence, it makes no difference in this case, so long as the Probate Court had general jurisdiction over the subject matter. The heirs stood by and saw the sale and purchase, and the money applied to the payment of the debts for which the property was liable, making no question as to the legality or validity of the sale. And now, having received the benefit of the money so obtained, and having slept upon the rights now set up, for twenty years, they will not be allowed to urge their equities, whatever they may be, against the paramount claim of the bona fide purchasers, who have paid the taxes on the land for so long a period.

Collision—Vessels Lying at Wharves not Bound to have Watch and Lights at Night—Ships Arriving bound to avoid Moored Vessels, and approach them at their peril—Constraint of Weather no Answer—Lighters may lie at the end of Piers, and are there Protected by the rule as to Moored Vessels—Measure of Damages.

David W. Wetmore, Appellant, vs. The Steamboat Granite State.—This is an appeal from the Circuit Court for the Southern District of New-York, in a cause of collision in rem.

The barge Rambler, owned by appellant, and used as a lighter, was taking iron from a ship lying at Pier No. 23 East River; she lay at the end of the pier, the ship, from which she was receiving iron, lying on one side, and another ship lying on the other. Night coming on, she remained in her place, fastened at each end with two spring chains to the pier, and with two lines to the ship on either side. The collision was between her and the Granite State, and occurred about 4 o'clock on the morning of the 18th December, 1857.

The steamer had arrived on one of her regular trips from Hartford, Conn., and was attempting to enter her slip, between Piers 24 and 25. The barge lay across the end of Pier 23, the pier extending some sixty feet further out in the river than the other piers in the immediate vicinity. The barge had no masts, and her hull lay below the top of the pier—the pier being higher than the barge as she lay in front of it. The barge had on board no watch or light. The morning was dark and rainy, with a strong wind from the southeast, and the tide the last of the ebb. The steamer came down on the Brooklyn side, and at the proper point swung round toward the New-York shore, and straightened up with a view to enter her berth. As she was approaching it a Williamsburgh ferry-boat came out of her slip, which was between Piers 25 and 6, (the next above the berth of the steamer,) which compelled her to stop and back, with stern away obliquely into the river, until obliged to change her direction and go ahead, to avoid a collision with a Fulton ferry-boat that had just come out of her berth, between Piers 21 and 22. The steamer, while thus going ahead to get into her berth, struck the larboard quarter of the barge with her wheel, and caused such damage to the latter that after floating out into the stream she sunk. The barge was not discovered by the steamer till within some fifty or sixty feet of her, as appeared from the proofs, when every effort was made to avoid a collision, but it was too late.

On this state of facts, (made up from the points of counsel and the statement by the Court at the circuit) and on the proofs, at the trial, in the District Court, the Judge held: That the barge was placed in a usual and proper position at the end of the pier, and her owner was not obliged, by the custom of the port or in his business, to have a watch kept on board, or a light suspended during the night time; that the steamer was under obligation to avoid coming upon vessels moored at the wharves, and that she undertook, at her own peril, to reach her usual berth, if the boisterous weather, the darkness of the night, or the passing of ferry-boats rendered it dangerous or even difficult to do so. The barge was not upon any track the steamer was entitled to take, but was lying at the wharf, from which the steamer was, by the laws of navigation, compelled to keep at a safe distance. The steamer was not acting under any constraint of the weather or other emergency, and, having elected to navigate under the embarrassments surrounding her, it was done at her own peril, and she must be answerable for the consequences. Decree for the libellant for his damage, with order of reference to a commissioner.

Appeal was taken from this decree to the Circuit, where Mr. Justice Nelson said: "Much testimony is taken in the case upon the question of usage, whether or not the barge in the exposed position where she lay should not have had on board a watch or a light? We do not say, upon these proofs, that she was in fault, so as to subject her to a portion of the damages, if the Granite State had been found also in fault; but we are bound to say, that so far as a watch or light might have facilitated the discovery of her by the approaching vessel, the omission is a matter properly entering into and influencing the judgment of the Court upon the question of negligence on the part of the steamer. To this extent the barge is obliged to assume the responsibility of the omission. This principle has been repeatedly asserted and applied."

Now, upon the proofs, we are quite satisfied, taking into view the position of the barge at the end of the dock, undistinguishable in a dark and rainy night, from the end of the dock itself, and neither watch nor light on it to give notice of its position, it was no fault on the part of the Granite State that she did not discover it earlier than testified to, when it was too late to avoid the collision. All the hands examined on board the steamer agree that it could not have been discovered earlier. They saw the large vessels in the slips, and say they might have seen a vessel in front of the dock if she had had masts or a light. The steamer was completely manned, all hands having been called to the deck, up the river, with a view to preparations for entering her berth and landing her passengers. We do not see that the steamer omitted any duty that devolved upon her in the emergency. She had adopted the usual measures to work herself into her berth, and pursued them with skill and diligence, and nothing but this self-concealed object at the end of the dock, which she met unexpectedly, and in a most exposed condition, led to the misfortune. I think the Court below erred, and that the decree should be reversed, and the libel dismissed.

The libellant now become appellant, and brought the case to this Court, where, after elaborate argument, the Court, Mr. Justice GRIER, reading the opinion, says: It is clearly proved, and a fact not controverted, that the barge which was fastened to the end of the pier, was in a place she was entitled to occupy; that she was not required to have a light suspended during the night time, as vessels anchored in the channel are required; nor to have a watch kept on board to warn off steamboats using the channel of the river. She was not in any track the steamer was required to take; and, being incapable of motion, cannot be justly charged with any participation or fault in causing the collision. As in the case of the Baltimore Steam Packet Company vs. Flushing, &c., decided at this term, there was no unusual convulsion of the elements or sudden hurricane which nautical men could not anticipate; no vis major, causing a collision, which a proper display of nautical skill might not have prevented.

Under such circumstances we are not called upon to inquire wherein the steamboat was not managed with proper nautical skill; whether the bright light which the steamboat had, or ought to have had, was not sufficient to warn her in time of her proximity to the pier if careful watch had been kept; whether she should not have backed her engine instead of rushing forward; whether she should have ported or starboarded her helm. All these inquiries are superfluous where the collision was caused by a vessel having the power to move or stop at pleasure in a channel of sufficient breadth, without any superior force compeling her to the place of collision. The fact that in these circumstances the steamboat did collide with the barge is conclusive evidence that she was not properly managed, and that she should be condemned to pay the damages caused by the collision.

There seems to have been some controversy in the District Court as to the measure of damages. No less than three different reports were made by the master on the subject. The parties have no right to complain of the instructions or opinions delivered by the Court. There cannot be an established market value for barges, boats, and other articles of that description, as in cases of grain, cotton or stock. The value of such boats depends upon the accidents of their form, age and materials; and as these differ in each individual, there could be no established market value. A person may make considerable profits by the use of an old hulk of but little value in the market for vessels. His loss cannot be measured by the ratio of his profits, as he might supply himself with another at a much cheaper rate. But when the injured vessel is not a total loss, and is capable of being repaired and restored to her original situation, the cost necessary to such repair cannot be said to be an incorrect rule of damages.

We do not feel called upon to decide between the opinions of witnesses who have given their guesses on the subject of the value of this rotten hull; and we see no reason to doubt the correctness of the decision of the District Judge on the subject. The judgment of the Circuit Court is therefore reversed, and the judgment of the District Court is affirmed, with costs.

Benedict, Burr & Benedict for appellant; E. H. Owens for appellee.

United States Commissioner's Office.

Before Commissioner Osborn.

In the case of John Rosser, who was charged with boring holes in the bottom of the ship Charles Sprague, while on her voyage from Europe to this port, George W. Pike, seaman; Frederick Newton, chief officer; Captain Hartt and Roundsman Kelly testified yesterday. Mr. Nash arranged to hand in a brief of the case for the defendant to-day, after which the Commissioner will give his decision in the case.

In the case of Capt. Frederick E. Bryan, charged with cruel and unusual treatment of Corban Washington (a descendant of Gen. George Washington,) on board the ship Washington Booth, while she was in French waters, the complainant was cross-examined by Judge Beebe yesterday. The witness gave evidence of being a very sensible, well-informed man. The case was adjourned till to-day at 11:30 o'clock.

Before Commissioner Betts.

In the case of the eight men charged with mutiny on board the ship Harriet, when two days out from Newport, Wales, on her passage to this port, the Captain, mate and one of the crew, named Hogan, gave testimony yesterday. It appeared that one of the men, being on one occasion on the main yard-arm at night, was ordered to do something, and refused to do it unless the Captain would send him up a lantern to see by. The Commissioner discharged four of the defendants, and the case was adjourned till to-day.

Before Commissioner Osborn.

Sinclair Webb, a dealer in lottery tickets, was brought before the Commissioner, charged with selling lottery-tickets without a license. Hon. S. S. Cox appeared for the parties principally interested in the case, (the managers of the lottery,) and Mr. Donohue for the defendant, while Joseph Bell, Esq., Assistant United States District-Attorney, appeared for the Government. The case was adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning.

Before Commissioner Osborn.

The case of Capt. Bryan, of the ship Washington Booth, charged with assaulting Corbin Washington (a descendant of Gen. Geo. Washington,) the second officer of the ship, with a slungshot, while in the Garonne, France, was again before the Commissioner yesterday. Judge Beebe, counsel for the Captain, argued that the Commissioner had no jurisdiction in the case, the alleged offence having been committed in French waters. Mr. Bell, Assistant United States District-Attorney, said he had more witnesses to examine, and it would be time enough to raise points of law when the Commissioner had all the facts before him. The examination was therefore adjourned.

The case of John Rosser, charged with attempting to scuttle the ship Charles Sprague, when two days out from Newport, Wales, was up for further examination before Commissioner Osborn yesterday. Mr. Nash, counsel for the prisoner, presented a brief, in which he took the ground that no act was proven by the witnesses for the Government; that "scuttling" was a term unknown in United States law, and that the Commission had no jurisdiction in the case, as it was alleged to have taken place in British waters. The Commissioner did not think Mr. Nash had advanced very sound legal views, and said he would consider the case and give his decision as soon as possible.

Before Commissioner Betts.

In the case of the mutineers on board the bark Harriet from Liverpool, the Commissioner discharged four, and held Robert D. Parker, John Lyon, Charles Patterson, and Peter Flood for trial. Some of these prisoners on one occasion shouted from the main yard-arm, while at sea one night, that the Captain must send them up a lantern as they could not see what they were doing. They all appear to have used the Captain as a "butt," instead of a superior officer. The examination has revealed some of the most ludicrous conduct which ever took place on board a ship. When the Captain would give an order, the sailors would play a joke on him by getting out their knives and running to the grinding stone to sharpen them, as if they intended to make mince meat of him the next time he attempted to order them to tack ship.

The Columbian Marine Insurance Company—The Receivership Settled.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS—APRIL 11.

Justice BARNARD yesterday delivered the following opinion in the matter of the Receivership of the Columbian Marine Insurance Company:

I think the interests of the various persons interested in the distribution of the proceeds of the Company will be benefited by the appointment of a man who has had experience in the management of insurance companies. The original intention was that two Receivers should be appointed and act. They were so appointed, but one has resigned. George A. Osgood is appointed to act in conjunction with B. Leffingwell. Bond to be given in the sum of $50,000.

What is Not a Good Defence to a Promissory Note—Ex-Marshal Rynders and Burton's Theatre in Chambers-street.

COMMON PLEAS—TRIAL TERM—APRIL 9.

Before Judge Daly and a Jury.

Phœbe S. Rynders vs. John J. Crane, Executor, and Cecelia Burton, Executrix of Wm. E. Burton, Deceased.—This is an action to recover of the defendants the sum of $4,000 and interest, the amount of two promissory notes of $2,000 each. The first note is as follows:

NEW-YORK, May 1, 1859.

Twenty-four months after date I promise to pay Mrs. Phœbe Shotwell Rynders, or order, the sum of two thousand dollars, value received, without interest.

$2,000. W. E. BURTON.

The second note is of the same date, for the same amount, in fact is the same in every respect, except that it is made payable forty-eight months after date.

The defence to these notes is three or four-fold. The answer admits that Crane is an Executor and the defendant, Cecelia Burton, is Executrix of Wm. E. Burton, deceased; it is also conceded that Burton, the comedian, died on or about the 10th of February, 1860; that his will was admitted to probate by the Surrogate of the City and County of New-York, on or about the 16th of April, 1860. All the material allegations of the complaint are then denied, and as a first defence they set up that Isaiah Rynders is a necessary party plaintiff to this action. Second, that the notes in question are without consideration, and therefore void. Third, that the plaintiff is not the lawful owner and holder of the notes, and fourth, the answer sets up at much length the circumstances under which the notes in suit were made. The defendants allege that while Mr. Rynders was United States Marshal for this district, he promised and agreed to and with Mr. Burton, who was then the owner of certain premises on the north side of Chambers-street, (then known as Burton's Theatre,) to effect a lease and subsequent sale to the United States Government. Testimony was given tending to show that after the notes in suit were given an arrangement was made between Burton and Rynders, whereby the latter agreed to undertake to get an Act of Congress passed, authorizing the agents of the United States Government to purchase all the Theatre property for the sum of $215,000; that if the act was passed and the sale of the Theatre effected for that amount, Rynders was to have $15,000 less $1,000, and the two notes in suit. The defendants therefore contended that inasmuch as this agreement was the sole consideration of the notes, they were void; that such contracts were opposed to law, to public policy, and good morals.

The plaintiff, on the other hand, contended that the notes were given for money loaned, and the accumulated interest thereon; that the transaction was a fair and square one, and had no reference whatever to the pretended arrangement between Mr. Burton and Marshal Rynders in regard to the lease and sale to the United States Government of the theatre property in Chambers-street.

Judge DALY, in charging the Jury, laid down the law in regard to the first defence interposed by the defendants, namely: The law relating to the property of married women. In this part of his charge he was earnest and exhibited a thorough knowledge of the subject. On the other points he said that if the Jury believed the notes were given by Burton for money loaned by Mr. Rynders to him, and the accumulated interest thereon they, the jury, must render a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount claimed, and leave the question of law as to whether Isaiah Rynders should have been joined as party plaintiff with his wife in this suit, to the Court. But if they believed the notes were given as a consideration for the influence which Rynders in his official position as United States Marshal might be able to exercise on the Government to lease or sell Mr. Burton's property in Chambers-street, or if given in view of his influencing Congress to pass an act to purchase this property for the use of the Government, the notes could not be upheld; the consideration was nothing in law, and such a transaction was opposed to public policy, to law and to morals. It seemed that such an act was not passed by Congress, the property was not sold to the Government, and as respects these notes the contract must be considered as though it had never been.

The jury after a long deliberation, rendered a verdict of $3,101 62, the full amount of the two notes with interest.

For plaintiff, Messrs. Marsh & Holmes; for defendants, Messrs. Cram & Robinson.

Court of General Sessions.

Before Recorder Hackett.

George Williams, indicted for petit larceny from the person, pleaded guilty. On the 2d inst. he picked the pocket of Caroline A. Brooks, of No. 99 Macdougal-street, while walking in Broadway. The amount contained in the pocket-book was $2. He was sentenced to the State Prison for four years and six months.

Clara Murrell and Sarah Hutchins, indicted for grand larceny of money from William Smith, were tried. On the 22d of March Mr. Smith permitted himself to be induced by these girls to accompany them into an alley in Thomas-street, where Sarah held him while Clara tore the pocket of his pants and took from him $50. They were convicted and sentenced to State Prison for five years.

Michael Allwell, indicted for robbery in the first degree, was tried. He and others, on the night of the 18th of March, assaulted Horatio P. Parmelee, of No. 156 Forsyth-street, knocked him down, and thereupon rifled his pockets, taking his watch, pocket-book and eye-glasses, in all of the value of $42. Allwell was arrested when attempting to run off, and the watch was found in his possession. He was found guilty and sentenced to the State Prison for twenty years.

James Smallwood, indicted for robbery in the first degree, pleaded guilty of grand larceny. He was charged with having on the 2d inst., assaulted and robbed John Cisco, of No. 137 Laurens-street, in the hallway of his (Cisco's) house. In the struggle which took place Cisco caught the coat of Smallwood and tried to hold him, but the thief succeeded in getting away, not, however, without leaving a button belonging to his coat in Cisco's hand. This button subsequently corresponded with the others on Smallwood's coat, and one was missing. He was sentenced to the State Prison for five years.

Joseph Burke, indicted for grand larceny, pleaded guilty of an attempt at grand larceny. He, on the 24th of March, stole from Janet Cunningham, of No. 17 Hamilton-street, the sum of $85, and was sentenced to State Prison for two years and six months.

Jerome Louis Pauck, indicted for grand larceny of money, was tried and convicted of an attempt to commit grand larceny, having on the 10th of February stolen from John E. Von Eisenberg, of No. 816 Broadway, the sum of $600. He was remanded for sentence.

Henry Miller, indicted for grand larceny, pleaded guilty of an attempt at grand larceny, having stolen from Stephen A. Tower, of No. 130 Nassau-street, on the 5th inst., the sum of $64 50. He was remanded for sentence.

Thomas Tiltin, a man 75 years of age, pleaded guilty of obtaining goods under false pretences. Judgment was suspended and the prisoner discharged.

Jacob Goodkind pleaded guilty of an attempt at grand larceny, having stolen from Louis Lobenstein, of No. 366 Canal-street, on the 20th of March, goods of the value of $114 75. He was remanded for sentence.

Daniel McGregor pleaded guilty of grand larceny, having, on the 1st of March, helped himself to the sum of $170, belonging to Henry H. Jones, No. 121 Spring-street. He was sentenced to State Prison for one year.

William H. Andrews pleaded guilty of an attempt at burglary in the third degree, having broken into the plumbing-shop of Michael Cummings, No. 15 Avenue D, and attempted to steal property of the value of $125. He was sentenced to the State Prison for two years and six months.

Laura Brown, indicted for grand larceny, was tried and acquitted. The complainant in this case, Walker S. Crosby, of No. 239 Market-street, Newark, N. J., some time ago was tempted to go into a concert saloon at No. 618 Broadway, and subsequently, when in a house with the aforesaid Laura, a man came from under the bed and carried away Mr. Crosby's coat, vest and pantaloons, which were on the bed or near it. By this means he (Crosby) lost his watch and money, in all amounting to $265. He testified that he had paid a detective $50 to try and recover his property, but the thing failed. There being no proof against Laura, she was set at liberty.

Peter Downing, indicted for burglary in the first degree, was tried on the charge of having, with others, on the night of the 13th of March, broken into the clothing-store of Joseph Marx, No. 22 Rector-street, and carried off goods of the value of $250. The Jury disagreed, and the prisoner was remanded.

Court of Special Sessions.

Before Justices Kelly and Dowling.

A SHARP GAME—PLAYING DETECTIVES.

Michael Maloney and Michael McCarty, both lads, were arraigned on a charge of attempted larceny. The complainant, Edward Fitzsimmons, said the prisoners and another young man came into the Northern Hotel and asked for drinks. Three drinks were given the party, which they imbibed. They then sat down by the stove and commenced to sing. One of the three left the room and went up stairs, and when witness called after him, Maloney said, "don't you mind him; he is my prisoner; I'm a detective." Believing that such was the case, complainant did not say anything, supposing at the same time that the man was only going to the yard. After a few minutes had elapsed, Maloney asked the bar-keeper if he wouldn't go and look where that fellow had gone to; he didn't like the idea of losing his prisoner. Complainant was about proceeding to look after the supposed escaped criminal, when he saw Maloney go behind the counter, look at the register, and draw a paper before him to cover the movements of his hand, but hearing the sound of a drawer coming out his suspicions were awakened, and he became satisfied that the pretended detective was himself a thief, and that his accomplice was up stairs stealing. He turned immediately back and found the money-drawer open, but nothing taken, when he cleared the house of his visitor and shut the door. Shortly after the accomplice came down stairs, and in endeavoring to retain him until the police should arrive, a pane of glass was broken, when Maloney withdrew the bolt of the door, entered and tried to rescue his associate. The thief that went up stairs was held to answer for a felony, but Maloney was found guilty of the attempted larceny. His associate, McCarty, was acquitted. Maloney was sent to the Penitentiary and fined $50.

PICKPOCKETS CONVICTED.

Edward Davis, known to the police by the alias of "Peanuts," and George Kane alias Kearns, were charged by Detective Philip Farley with picking the pocket of an unknown woman. When first arraigned for trial their counsel stated that the case had been certioraried before a Supreme Court Judge. The ground taken was that two or more men could not be implicated in the attempt to steal a pocket-book. In other words, there could not be a conspiracy to steal a pocket-book. If three men went on Broadway and one distracted a woman's attention, while an other covered the operations of the pickpocket nobody was held responsible for the crime but the one that tried to insert his hand in the pocket. This case was certioraried to test the right of a Court to try only one of the party, the one that put his hand in the pocket. The decision made by the Supreme Court, which is very important, we do not know, but yesterday both of these old offenders came back for trial and pleaded not guilty.

Detective Farley on being sworn said: On last Wednesday evening I saw these two young men come into a fair for the benefit of St. Ann's Church, in Eighth-street. I waited some time to see what they would do. I saw them go toward ladies, go alongside of them, and I saw Kane place his hand on a lady's dress, near, in fact, where the pocket is, and his associate prevented the lady from moving. I arrested both of them and a young man named Thomas Brown; saw them when I had them in custody thrown something from them; I picked up these two pocket-books that Davis threw from him; one of the pocket-books is identified by Ellen Laselle as having been stolen from her; she is here, so is Mr. Brown.

Judge Kelly—(With a smile)—Do you wish to cross-examine, Counsel?

Counsel—(After consulting his clients)—My clients inform me that they pleaded guilty. The Court will please withdraw the plea. That is your plea? (To prisoners.)

Prisoners—Yes.

The plea was so recorded, and both were sent to the Penitentiary for four months and fined $50 each.

AN INDIGNANT PICK-POCKET.

Henry Grant, a short, stout humpbacked, but very respectable looking man, was charged with attempting to pick pockets in the street. Policeman Edward McKenna said that about 11:30 in the forenoon he saw the prisoner in a crowd; he first saw the prisoner try to get his hand into the pocket of an unknown man's vest, as if to get his watch; failing to get his hand in there, he struck the man's thigh, as if to feel whether there was a pocketbook there; he then inserted his hand, when he was arrested; not a word passed between the stranger and the prisoner.

Prisoner—Didn't you arrest me in the middle of the street?

Officer—What if I did? I arrested you after you attempted to pick the man's pocket. How much did you offer me to "square" it——

Court—Stop, stop; that has nothing to do with this case.

Officer Wilkinson said that he arrested the prisoner the same day, and "run him in" on suspicion that he was a pickpocket.

The accused was found guilty, sent to the Penitentiary and fined $50.

THE FIRST FENIAN FIGHT.

Samuel Campbell, a conductor on the Eighth-avenue cars, was charged with assaulting and driving off the platform of the car, Mr. Elkins Hayman, a passenger, who had paid his fare. Witness said that on the 26th of last month he got on the car at Chambers-street and West Broadway. The car was crowded, so much so that he could not get inside, and had to stand on the rear platform. On the route up the car stopped, and a lady wanted to get on. He did not move, and the conductor told him that he had no respect for anybody, not even a lady. Words passed between the two more emphatic than polite, and the conductor then went in his car, and, on coming back to the rear platform, witness remarked to a brother merchant: "We won't have good business until the Fenians take Canada." This, witness said, was addressed to his friend, not to the conductor. The conductor immediately said: "Yes, when the Dutch take Holland." Blows were exchanged, and the conductor then rung the bell, and with the assistance of the driver, Mr. Hayman was ejected from the car. Campbell was found guilty and fined $10.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP IS A PROTECTED SOLUTION OF THE PROTOXIDE OF IRON, a new discovery in medicine that STRIKES AT THE ROOT OF DISEASE, by supplying the blood with its vital principle, or life element, IRON. This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COMPLAINT, DROPSY, CHRONIC DIARRHOEA, BOILS, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, CHILLS AND FEVERS, HUMORS, LOSS OF CONSTITUTIONAL VIGOR, DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, and all diseases originating in a BAD STATE OF THE BLOOD, or accompanied by DEBILITY OR A LOW STATE OF THE SYSTEM. Being free from Alcohol in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing STRENGTH, VIGOR and NEW LIFE into all parts of the system, and building up an IRON CONSTITUTION. Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial. A pamphlet of 32 pages, containing certificates of cures and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent FREE to any one sending us their name and residence. See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass. J. P. DINSMORE, Proprietor, No. 36 Dey-st., New-York. Sold by all druggists.
